*Be it a weakness, it deserves some praise,
We love the play-place of our early days;
The scene is touching, and the heart is stone,
That feels not at the sight, and feels at none.*

My books, the best companions, is to me

Beside yon straggling fence that skirts the way,
With blossom'd furze, unprofitably gay,
There in his noisy mansion, skill'd to rule,
The village master taught his little school.
A man severe he was, and stern to view;
I knew him well, and every truant knew:
Well had the boding tremblers learn'd to trace
The day's disasters in his morning face;
Full well they laughed with counterfeited glee,
At all his jokes, for many a joke had he;
Full well the busy whisper, circling round,
Convey'd the dismal tidings when he frowned.

ALFRED HORATIO UPHAM
President

Inauguration Day

A memorable event in the history of the University took place last Fall on October 20, when Dr. Alfred Horatio Upham was inaugurated president of Miami to succeed former president Raymond Molyneaux Hughes who had accepted the position of head of Iowa Agricultural College. Notables from several places attended the ceremonies which were held the same day as the annual Homecoming celebration and the day after the new School of Business Administration was formally opened.

Lewis Place

Foremost among those present were William Oxley Thompson, former president of Miami and president emeritus of Ohio State University, former president Raymond Molyneaux Hughes, Mr. W. L. Tobey, president of the Board of Trustees and William G. Pickerel, former Miami student and Lieutenant-Governor of Ohio.

The ceremonies began with the academic procession from Main Building to Benton Hall. Mr. W. L. Tobey then administered the simple oath of office before the assembled University Senate and the audience of students and alumni. William G. Pickerel, representing Governor Donahey and the State extended greetings to the new president. Former president Hughes then spoke a few words of welcome and congratulation to his successor.

The principal address of the morning was delivered by Dr. Thompson. He gave a few reminiscences of the days when he was president of the then very small university. He also expanded on the functions of the colleges and universities of today, giving his views of their proper place in society.

President Upham closed the morning with his inaugural address. In his talk he gave some of the early history of the school the ideals and standards it has always striven to maintain and then outlined his ideas as to the future growth of the university, the objects toward which it was to proceed and the services which it was to perform.

HON. WILLIAM G. PICKEREL

PRESIDENT UPHAM, DR. THOMPSON, DR. HUGHES

Opening of Business School

DEAN H. C. DALE

A distinguished assemblage greeted the formal opening of Miami's School of Business Administration when it was ushered in on October 19, 1928.

Among those present at the ceremonies were Dr. Julius Klein, Hoover's right hand man in the Department of Commerce, Mr. George Verity, president of the American Rolling Mills Company, Mr. John R. Simpson, president of the Cuba Cane Sugar Company, Mr. Spurgeon Bell, Director of the Bureau of Business Research at Ohio State University and others.

A series of talks and banquets featured the opening, chief among which were addresses by Dr. Julius Klein and Dean Dale who outlined the work of the School and the general policies to be followed.

The School had its beginnings in 1923 when courses in Business were offered in the Liberal Arts College, which courses were accepted as credit toward the A. B. degree. In 1926 the second step was taken when the Board of Trustees authorized a regular course as a department of the Liberal Arts college which would lead to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Business. Then a special committee of the Board of Trustees recommended that a separate School of Business Administration be created and in December of 1926 this action was ratified. The school was then formally opened in the fall of 1928.

Last year was the first year that anyone was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Business. At that time thirteen seniors had fulfilled the requirements. This year there are twenty-three seniors in the school and the prospects are for a steadily growing number. The school has nine faculty members who teach courses in three departments, Business Administration, Economics, and Secretarial Studies. There are 322 students in the school of whom 286 are men.

The past year has seen several marked developments in the administrative end of the University. In addition to having a new president, Miami has added another dean to the staff of officials.

Harrison C. Dale, dean of the newly created School of Business, has gone about his work as chief of the school in a manner which has not belied his title. The organization of this new school on a going basis, the adjustment of the many details, both large and small, has been no easy task but this newest department of the University has functioned in such a way that the casual observer would think that it has been a division of the University for years.

In the absence of Harvey C. Minnich, Dean of the School of Education, Dr. Jesse V. McMillan has done a very capable piece of work in directing the affairs of this rapidly expanding and changing section of the University which requires a capable head to manage its affairs.

Women's rules have seen a marked change from those of previous years. Greater privileges and more responsibility on the girls have been the main results of these changes in rules which many had felt to be obsolete for a long time.

Other departments of the administration, while seeing no radical changes, have maintained the high standards set in the past.

Seniors

Senior Class

That this year's senior class has been by no means inactive is well attested by a glance at the activities that the members have entered into in all phases of life at Miami.

In scholarship the class has been pre-eminent. Seven members were elected to Phi Beta Kappa in their Junior year while thirteen more attained this enviable distinction this year. In addition to this many have made the exacting requirements of the other honoraries such as Kappa Delta Pi and Delta Sigma Pi.

The class has also been synonymous with athletics. It was members of this class who were instrumental last year in bringing to Oxford a championship in football and near championships in the other major sports all during their careers as well as making Miami's name respected in all Ohio college athletic circles. Several of their members have been selected on all-Ohio or all-Buckeye first and second teams. That it has been consistent, however, is attested by the fact that twenty-four men were awarded letters in all sports.

In activities they have exerted themselves to good effect. Last year's Recensio by placing among the first five in the country and second in the State while the Student also placed second among Ohio college newspapers showed the mettle of the class of '29 in the line of publications. In other lines of activities the class has also outdone itself.

Socially it has left little to be desired. The three dances, the Hop, the Prom, and the Ball were all credits to the genius of their promoters. And, of course, there has been the usual amount of P. A'ing and planting of pins so that a well-rounded and balanced appearance is presented by the class upon graduation.

Juniors

Junior Class

Leading in many lines of college activity already and promising to expand the scope of their operations next year, the Junior class is one which must be reckoned with when the achievements of the past three years at Miami are recorded.

In activities they have been especially well represented. The nuclei of the two debating teams were composed of Juniors who had received their training during their Freshman and Sophomore years. In other lines also, publications, Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., music, dramatics and all the other many lines of effort at Miami the class has distinguished itself.

Athletically, the group has also made a name for itself. In track last year it was members of this class who largely accounted for the points rolled up by Miami as well as furnishing record-breakers in several events. In football, men of the class of '30 have been bulwarks on the line and in the backfield, in basketball and in baseball they have bolstered up the teams and have been instrumental in their successes. This is well attested by the fact that nineteen of the men have already won their letters in competition with the best that the University has to offer in the line of athletes.

The class has also held its own in scholarship. Four members have already attained the honor of Phi Beta Kappa while numerous others have averages which will easily carry them through next year.

That the Prom this year was a decided success cannot be denied. In addition to having superb music, the decorations were flawless as well as in a unique style, carrying out the effect of a cabaret of the typical kind. The committee is to be highly commended for its work. The Hop last year was also one of the best ever given according to village old-timers.

Sophomores

THE Sophomore Class this year proved itself worthy of carrying on the traditions of the Old Miami and able to aid in the building up of the New Miami. No matter what the activity, whether it was social, athletic, or scholastic, the Class of '31 came through with flying colors.

In athletics the class made a particularly fine record. Five men of '31 are now wearing "M's" as a result of their good work on the gridiron, to say nothing of the men who were among the ranks of the unpraised substitutes. Four of the six sweaters earned in Basketball this year were won by Sophomore men. The prospects for the class on the track and the diamond look very encouraging. Furthermore, many of those who were not able to make varsity positions became the mainstays of the various intramural teams.

As to the social side, we must all hand it to them for the fine Hop they gave. There is no doubt as to the fact that the Hop, as it should be, was the finest semi-formal dance given on the campus this year. Seth Watterson and the other members of the Committee deserve much praise for the fine manner in which the dance was conducted. We find many of the fair damsels and collegians of the class are also adept at the gentle art of P. Aing.

And then along the more scholarly lines of their college work there was much activity. As large if not a larger percent of the usual number of Sophomores are certainly taking mighty strides in the direction of Phi Beta Kappa.

This year has also shown that the ancient and revered tradition of cap-wearing can not be enforced except through an organization such as other Sophomore classes were allowed to have. There is no doubt that Dagger and Chain were a bit forceful in their coercive efforts last year, but—must this year's class and all the other Sophomore classes to come suffer for the sins of a few men of last year? Apparently so!

The untimely death of Marvin D. Eutsler, better known to his many friends and classmates as "Whitey," came as a shock to the whole school. It is with the deepest sorrow and regret that we remember that most unfortunate occurrence.

Last but by far not the least important aspect of the class' record lies in the fine spirit it has shown as a part of the student body. The Sophomores deserve much credit for the way they have fitted themselves into the school atmosphere, and when these men and women enter the outside world, judging from their past achievements, they will enter it as true sons and daughters of Old Miami.

Freshmen

Freshman Class

FRESHMAN WEEK again proved its worth as a method of introducing the newcomers into the college atmosphere this year. 796 Freshmen responded to the peals of Old Main bell the opening day and were escorted through innumerable lectures and tours under the guiding wings of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. Cabinets. As a climax to the week, they all gathered in Herron Gym for the annual mixer. Thursday the ban on Fraternity rushing was lifted, resulting in a very thrilling week-end for the prospective neophytes. Sorority rushing lasted until the following Saturday, at which time the verdant damsels made their choice.

After these first exciting days were over, everyone settled down into the regular routine, and the class began to show its abilities in the classroom and in the many activities on the campus. The football season disclosed many possible "Red Granges," and at its close 25 men received numerals or sweaters. The Freshman Basketball squad was defeated but once during the year, and 14 men earned sweaters. Prospects for the Track and Baseball season are also very promising.

As a result of their work during the first semester, 14 men made a half A, half B average or better, which is the requirement for $\Phi\chi\Sigma$, the Freshman honorary fraternity.

There is no similar organization on the campus for recognition of scholarship among the women; however, a number of them made an average equal to that required by $\Phi\eta\Sigma$.

One dance in the Commons and several at Fisher Hall were given by the class. These dances were meant to be informal gatherings, exclusive for the Freshmen. They were well attended by the upperclassmen.

The second week in February was unofficially recognized as the week in which the fraternities laid aside all selfish instincts and devoted their time and efforts to remaking the pledges into men worthy of being one of the brothers. It was a long, and hard week, according to the Freshmen. Late nights, long hikes, unpleasant tasks, old clothes, paddles, valet service, and the like so filled this seemingly endless week that by Saturday the poor neophytes were all in. It was a great day when the pins were at last placed over the hearts of the newly initiated Freshmen, and the trials of the preceding week faded away before the joys of the present hour.

Two days before school adjourned for spring vacation, a large gathering was seen at Cook field. In the midst was a great bonfire. Suddenly a signal was given, and five Freshman caps, dug up from the corners of clothes-closets and the bottoms of trunks, sailed through the air and were engulfed in the flames. Yes, it was the annual cap-burning.

Teachers College

It is not easy to say a great deal as to the activities of the Teachers' College classes due to the fact that their time is very much taken up in an intensive two-year course fitting them for the teaching they are to do after leaving Miami and entering the elementary schools of the State.

During the second year they are all required to do practice teaching, many of them out of town; consequently they have little time to spend on the activities to which the students in the other schools have time to devote themselves. Many were required to do teaching in Middletown and other neighboring places, some being absent during the first semester and others during the second.

They are, however, active as far as possible. Many of them engage in women's athletics and several have made distinguished records for themselves in all branches of women's sports during their two years. Hockey, soccer, volleyball, baseball, archery, and all the many and diversified branches of Co-ed sports have seen them well represented. Several have placed high in points earned and have the much desired "M" for athletics.

In other lines, socially as well as in scholarship and activities, they have engaged as actively as their limited time and the short duration of their stay at Miami has permitted them. While they do not put on a class dance such as the Hop, Prom or Ball, still they mingle into the life of the University as extensively as any other group on the campus.

Freshman T. C. Class

N some ways the lowliest of that most ignoble group in college—the Freshman class; the Freshman T. C. students are so completely tied down to their curricula that they have even less chance than their superiors, the Sophomore T. C's, of distinguishing themselves in the lines of college activities or athletics.

However, if one were to take a stroll over to McGuffey Building some day and look around, he would see a busy body of students, working hard at the task of making teachers of future generations of themselves. The required schedules of the Teachers College keep them busy practically all the time.

The class has its own organization independent of the rest of the Freshman class. It consists in a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. This year, however, they were late in getting together for an election and it was not until the Recensio promoted it that a vote was taken; otherwise the class might have gone unorganized until the end of the year.

Activities

Student Affairs

Student Senate

TUDENT Senate, which has now been abolished by the popular consent and vote of the Miami students, was formerly the chief administrative body of the old form student government. Many important duties were allotted to this organization. Its largest task was to try cases and render decisions that arose concerning the violation of the school honor system. Pep-meetings in Benton Hall on Friday mornings and the preparation of bonfires on Friday evenings before football games were arranged and carried out by the Senate.

In addition to these duties, all preparations and plans for Home-coming were in the hands of the senate. This included the supervision of decorations on the fraternity houses, the men's and women's dormitories, the football field, and the campus in general. Also the arrangement of a program between the halves of the game fell to their lot.

The task of upholding and carrying on the traditions of the college, and at the same time the performance of the various duties for the betterment of the University, the faculty, and the student body was another phase of the senate's work.

Conflicting ideas and cases between the administration and the student body were placed in the hands of the senate. In such instances, the senate set about to settle the conflicts by arbitration and judgement.

Membership in the organization was so arranged that the majority of responsibility fell upon the Junior and Senior classes, as well as other individuals who held important and responsible offices on the campus. Consequently the staff of the senate was comprised of everyone with experience in deciding campus problems or with experience in other major activities.

A portion of this organization was elected by a popular vote of the students, the remainder served by virtue of their campus offices. Three Seniors, two Juniors, and one Sophomore were elected by their respective classes to a seat in the senate. The president was then decided by the Senior representative receiving the highest number of votes. Other members were the chairmen of the upper class girl's dormitories and the chairman of Ogden Hall. Also the editor of the Student, the presidents of the Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., Big Sisters, and Women's Student Council were given admission by virtue of their offices.

Officers of the Student Senate were as follows: Dwight Franz, President, Lloyd Larrick, Vice-President, Martha Craver, secretary, Nolan Heidelbaugh, Treasurer.

Membership consisted of the following:

D. Franz	R. Norris	N. Bennett	J. Baker
L. Larrick	L. Reed	A. Bayman	S. Evans
M. Craver	L. Lane	H. Calihan	H. Todd
N. Heidelbaugh	K. Grubb	F. Cochran	C. Shafer

Student Forum

THE Student Forum of Miami University was at one time an important organization on the local campus. Many official acts and duties were carried out by the members of the Forum for the college. However, with the rise of various other organizations on the campus this body slowly degenerated until it finally became extinct with the adoption of the new form of Student Government.

Formerly, it was necessary for all amendments of the Student Government to pass the vote of the Forum. Problems concerning the welfare of the student body and their control were discussed at semi-monthly meetings. This group served as the connecting link between the Student Senate and the whole student body. In fact, any question that was not taken up by any other organization fell to the authority of the Forum.

The president of the Student Senate acted as president of this body. There were no other officers. Each class was represented by a definite number of students who were chosen by class elections. The Seniors were privileged to have twenty members, the Juniors fifteen, and the Sophomores ten. The three classes combined composed the personnel of the Forum:

C. Shafer	F. Hoy	M. Dillencourt	P. Davis

Student Council

ALTHOUGH the Women's Student Council has been changed from an independent organization into a part of the new Miami Government; nevertheless it has upheld with great success the standards of women's life on the Miami campus, and has created a desirable social atmosphere for University life since 1914.

The Council was composed of girls on the campus who led an active life in upholding the interests and traditions of the college. Three members of the Council were chosen by a popular vote of the women's student body. These members held the offices of president, secretary, and treasurer. All other positions on the council were filled by girls who merited the honor by virtue of holding other prominent offices in college activities.

During the first half of the year the officers of the Women's Student Council were as follows: Faye Cochran, President; Cora Kolter, Secretary; Helen Stewart, Treasurer.

Complete membership was:

Faye Cochran
Cora Kolter
Helen Stewart
Helen Todd
Virginia Senseman

Student-faculty Council

LAST year, because of a general belief that the existing form of student government could not adequately handle the student problems, a series of joint faculty and student meetings were held to draw up a new form of government. The new form was submitted to the student body and accepted by an overwhelming majority.

The legislative and administrative body of the new government is a Student-Faculty Council composed of six faculty members chosen by the University Senate; six men students, chosen by the University men; and six women students selected by the University women.

The duties and powers of this Council are to study and discuss problems on the campus; to determine the time and place of elections; to recommend any changes to the faculty for the betterment of Miami; to co-operate with all other organizations; and to carry out the college traditions.

Officers of the new government are: Carlisle Shafer, President; Dwight Franz, Vice-President; Nolan Heidelbaugh, Secretary.

Members for 1929 are:

C. Shafer	S. Lane	S. Evans	J. H. St. John
D. Franz	R. Niswonger	M. Baker	B. M. Davis

Joint Disciplinary Committee

THE Miami Disciplinary Committee is a joint committee of faculty and students of the University. It has numerous purposes and duties to uphold in performing its office on the campus. This executive and judicial body came into existence with the adoption of the new form of Student Government by the members of this institution.

Cases involving the social conduct of both men and women are tried before this board. Violations of the social code of the University by fraternities and sororities are also acted upon by this committee. It strives and works to maintain a clean, wholesome social condition on the campus and to promote moral and righteous living among the individuals in the school. This board is a branch of the Student Government that deals only with cases concerning the conduct of Miami students.

The Committee is composed of five women faculty members, five men faculty members, two women students, and two men students.

During the past year, Dr. William Shideler served as chairman of the Committee. Membership consisted of:

Dr. Wm. Shideler
Dr. E. Anderson
Dr. D. S. Robinson
Dr. C. W. Kroger
M. G. L. Rider

Varsity Social Club

HE Varsity Social Club manages and sponsors all independent social life on the campus. Its dances are patronized by students representing the entire school.

A feature of the Club is that it operates only for the benefit of the university and never runs competition to any other social affair. Dances are given only on week-ends when no other diversion is offered to the college men and women. As a result of this aim and with the increasing social life in fraternity circles, the service rendered by the club is gradually on the decline.

Experienced men are always in charge of the organization. A junior is elected vice-president so that he may become thoroughly acquainted with the work of the club. This method insures a competent president to lead the organization for the ensuing year.

Membership in the club is decided in the following manner: The president and vice-president are elected by popular vote. The president then chooses one man from each fraternity and one independent to serve on the staff in operating the dances.

The officers of the club for the last year were Nick Bennett, president; Reynold Wurnelle, vice-president; Lyle Adams, treasurer.

Senior Ball

ITH cares and worries of school and its routines almost over, the Miami Seniors gave vent to one more evening of pleasure at their annual Ball in Herron Gymnasium, on April 12.

Lysle Adams, Chairman of the dance, put forth every possible effort to make the farewell party linger in the departing Seniors' memories. The Gymnasium was transformed into a Japanese garden, with vines and lattice work to complete the arrangement and provide a cozy atmosphere. Tables were placed around the walls, cabaret fashion and in the balcony, where every portion of the room is visible, were seated the chaperones.

Harry Wilsey of Cincinnati and his Columbia Recording Orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. Accompanying Wilsey and his orchestra was an attractive cabaret dancer who not only made the intermission a pleasure but helped to carry out the scheme of a Japanese cabaret.

Chaperones for the Ball were President and Mrs. Upham, Mr. and Mrs. Van Tassel, Mr. and Mrs. Glos, Mr. and Mrs. Dupre, Mr. and Mrs. St. John, Miss Hamilton, and Miss Wilson.

Composing the committee were:

Junior Prom

LARGEST and best of all the social affairs at Miami is the Junior Prom. An innovation, however, came this year in the decoration of the Hall. The scene greatly resembled an exclusive club in a large hotel. Draperies enclosed the entire space on the sides, and above there revolved a large ball which cast many colored lights beneath a low ceiling.

Individual tables featured the evening and upon everyone of them was placed a program that reminded one of the day on which the Prom was held, George Washington's Birthday. Hoagie Carmichael and his Victor recording orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. An example of some of the hottest music in the country resulted when they played their own number, "Rocking Chair Blues."

During an intermission, the climax of the evening resulted. Ardelle Brown of Dayton, Ohio, was presented to the student body and crowned Queen of the Prom. Following a promenade, that was led by the Prom Queen and the president of the Junior class, the dancers once more resumed their activities which lasted on until early the next morning. Stuart Lane was chairman of this year's Prom.

Sophomore Hop

ESPITE the fact that an epidemic of influenza caused the postponement of the Sophomore Hop from the Friday before Christmas until after the recess, a fine dance proved to be the ultimate outcome and ticket holders joined into the spirit of the affair with utmost zeal and enthusiasm.

Although the gymnasium was transformed into a palace of beauty by the decoration committee, the outstanding feature of the evening was Ohio State's Scarlet Mask Orchestra. Besides rendering toe-tickling music, the personnel of the band furnished excellent vocal selections and several comedy skits.

The most tense moment of the evening was when everyone gathered about the throne awaiting the announcement of the King. Seth Watterson, Hop chairman, then called for Chalmers Richardson. Amid the cheers of three hundred couples, Richardson ascended to the throne and ruled in state for the remainder of the evening.

Composing the Hop committee were:

Seth Watterson

University Marshals

THE work of the university marshals consists of officiating at all entertainments in Benton Hall and any other official university functions that may occur. This year the marshals began their work with President Upham's inauguration and ended with the Commencement exercises in June. Dressed immaculately in tuxedos these men lend added dignity to university affairs.

University marshals were first used at the University of Chicago to maintain all the public exercises of the school. Miami did not initiate the system until 1904. At that time and until recent years, one junior from each fraternity and one man from the independent group were selected by the faculty to compose the band of marshals. With the growth of the university and the increase in the number of fraternities, this custom was abandoned and a new method of selecting the men innovated.

At the present time a committee from the faculty selects seven men from the Junior Class on the basis of scholarship, integrity of character, and their ability and interest in the participation in campus affairs.

During the past year Lloyd Larrick worked in the capacity of head marshal. The marshals were:

Y. M. C. A.

HE Miami Y.M.C.A. is a fellowship of men who are seeking an understanding of life and an appreciation of its highest values. In search of this goal, it would share its experiences with others working with the same aim. Through its varied program, it strives to meet the problems which arise in a college atmosphere of changing ideas.

Religious activities are carried on throughout the year by discussion groups composed of both students and faculty. Topics such as, "Social Adventures," "Modern Religious Problems," and "Vocational Guidance," are discussed. Deputation teams are sent to the churches of neighboring towns.

Social activities such as "Mixers" for freshmen at the first of the year, week-end dances, and a reception for foreign students serve to create a democratic environment. The "M" banquet in honor of the football team is sponsored by the cabinet.

An employment bureau is maintained to offer the students self-aid. The game room, book exchange, and "M" book are maintained to serve the student body.

Officers are: James Baker, president; John Mee, vice-president; William Amos, secretary.

Y. W. C. A.

HE purpose of the Y.W.C.A. is to unite in the desire of realizing a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God, to have a determination for making life better for all individuals, and to seek, understand, and follow Jesus Christ.

Throughout the year, the cabinet of the Y.W.C.A. is active in university religious life, raising the moral standards of students and making the college atmosphere cleaner and better for everyone. During Freshman week, the cabinet members act as guides to groups of incoming Freshmen girls. Later in the year, Freshman Commission Groups are maintained and instructed in campus service work. Monthly programs are held for the entertainment and benefit of foreign students.

Another department of the Y.W.C.A. is the employment bureau. Girls are aided in obtaining self-help in meeting their college expenses. In the spring, a series of presentations, for Senior girls, on community contacts, enables the group to learn the technique of club leadership with various girls' organizations such as the Girl Reserves and Girl Scouts.

The Y.W.C.A. officers are: Sibyl Evans, president; Erma Schmidt, vice-president; Sarah Stephenson, secretary; Bonnie Sollars, treasurer.

Freshman Commission

FRESHMAN Commission is a branch of the Miami Y.W.C.A. that is composed of Freshmen women. This organization occupies an important place in the school affairs because it serves as a medium for training future members of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet. It gives incoming girls an opportunity to familiarize themselves with Y.W.C.A. work at the beginning of their college careers.

During the past year this body of girls was in charge of Helen Albright who directed and planned their activities. Organization of the group is on a voluntary basis. All freshman girls who are desirous of the experience are admitted. The commission is divided into groups of eight each with a sophomore leader to advise them. Each group has its own officers, plans its own meetings and acts independently of the others.

Two distinct types of work are done by this organization. One class is concerned with their social life. Speakers are chosen to lead discussion meetings and various other social events are held. Service to the Y.W.C.A. is the second type of work done by the commission. Financial aid is given to the Y.W.C.A. by selling refreshments at the athletic contests, dressing dolls, and giving sales.

A freshman cabinet comprises the controlling body of the organization. It is composed of the group presidents and the commission director. This group is the connecting link between its organization and the Y.W.C.A.

Big Sisters

THE organization of Big Sisters is a branch of the Y.W.C.A. that deals only with incoming Freshmen women. It is composed of about one hundred upperclass girls whose purpose and duty is to advise the newcomers and aid them in every possible way. Each Big Sister is given three new students. Throughout the year, then, every new girl has some one to help and advise her.

Big Sisters for the following year are chosen in the spring. During the summer vacation they correspond with their charges and inform them about the college customs, what is necessary for a girl to have in school, and whatever other question the incoming girl happens to ask.

Chairmen of the Big Sister organization for the past year were Martha Craver and Ruth Diekman. Personnel: Helen Albright, Galen Glasgow, Ann Milinkovits, Martha Sharkey, Priscilla Mitchell, Mary Ann Wolford, Ruth Keller, Maxine Clover, Mabel Riley, Margaret Hanna, Sara Stevenson, Louise Wood, Imogene Dean, Ruth Thompson, Ruth Goodwin, Marjorie Leffler, Ada Ludeke, Beatrice Poling, Katherine Cochran, Christine Miller, Ruth Hooch, Helen Dorn, Cora Kolter, Margaret Fetz, Martha Alberts, Elizabeth Crecraft, Elsie Martens, Beatrice Livengood, Dorothy Augustine, Louise Butler, Charlotte McMaken, Mildred Riegle, Genivieve White, Marian Parman, Nelle Jackson, Lois Leiter, Peg Adamson, Bessie Leshner, Gladys Hoerner, Helen Karns, Esther Kramer, Dorothy Darrow, Helen West, Louise Galbreath, Geraldine Cropsey, Laura Thompson.

Kappa Phi

APPA PHI is a national organization of Methodist girls attending college. It was founded in 1916 at Kansas University. The purpose of the sorority is to furnish religious training for college women and to promote a wholesome social atmosphere on the campus. Girls are trained and instructed in the fundamentals of their creed so that they may become the church leaders of the future.

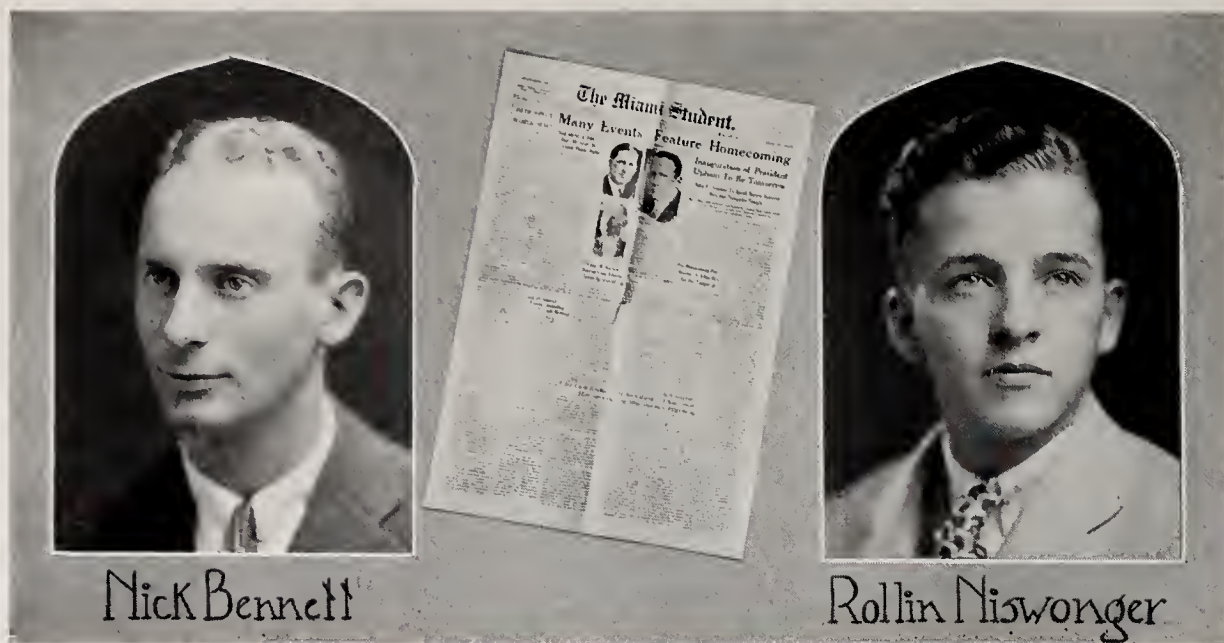

Meetings are held every two weeks, and modern problems of the campus, church and their lives are discussed. Each year, at Christmas time, a joint play is given with the Wesley Club, a similar organization of Methodist men.

During the past year the following girls have composed the personnel of the organization. Helen Deeter, President; Dorothy Hixon, Vice-President; Helen Karns, Recording Secretary; Bernice Buchanan, Corresponding Secretary; Florence Huber, Treasurer; Grace Deems, Chaplain; Mildred Cowdrey, Elizabeth Crecraft, Estella Culp, Donna De Palma, Helen Dick, Alvira Downey, Vivian Drake, Dorothy Drill, Gladys Feitshans, Louise Gantz, Ruth Goodwin, Esta Howard, Amelia Ihle, Fritziliff, Elizabeth Lenox, Evelyn Mason, Ida Morgan, Pricilla Mitchell, Dorothy Scott, Gertrude Smith, Leah Smith, Mary Stewart, Ada Stromberger, Esther Swank, Esther Vance, Leonora Van Ness, Vivian Van Meter, Virginia Milgas, Dorothy Witter, Freda Woods and Mrs. Dunham, Sponsor.

Publications

Miami Student

Miami University's newspaper, the Miami Student, was established in 1826. It has the marked distinction of being the oldest college publication west of the Allegheny Mountains. The paper is published semi-weekly by students of the University who are specializing in the field of Journalism. Under the present system of operation, the paper is issued every Tuesday and Friday, thus insuring prompt news service to the students.

Ralph McGinnis was appointed to the office of Faculty advisor this year. His work consisted of supervising and criticising the work on the paper. He also conducts two classes a week for the staff members. An hour's academic credit is given for attendance in these classes, besides being an important aid in improving the paper.

The personnel of the Student Staff is as follows: Editor, Nick Bennett; Associate Editors, Lyman Dewey, Oliver Amos, Fritz Unger; Exchange Editor, Austin Sprague; Copy Editors, Alan Angell, Richard Weinland; Sports, Isi Newborn; Society, Marie Withgott; Columnist, Isi Newborn, Fritz Unger; Reporters, Elsie Martens, Norbert Horwedel, Bernarr Vance, Anne Amos, Jack Bennett, Eleanore Giles, Jack Thornquest, Jean Larrick, Paul Blackburn, Emmet Stopher, Joseph Marks, Mary Sexauer, Anne Johnson, Wilhelmina Gentile, Norman Goodwin, William Amos, Gerald Bell, Paul Hinkel, Herbert Tannenbaum, and Miriam Hooper; Business Manager, Rollin Niswonger; Assistants, Harry Gerlach, Lloyd Larrick. Faculty Advisor, Ralph McGinnis.

Recensio

HE Recensio is a written and pictorial record of the life at Miami during one year. As such it attempts to make a faithful portrayal of all the details of the year's happenings, both large and small, serious and laughable. In this Recensio for 1929 we have adopted the idea that is so well expressed in the old Chinese proverb—"One picture is worth ten thousand words," and have included as many pictures and snap shots of as many angles of life at Miami as we have been able to get, believing that a year book should above all be pictorial.

Errors of omission and commission have undoubtedly been made but we nevertheless present this book to the student body with the consciousness that it is the best that we have been enabled to compile with what abilities we have. Possibly some things have been said that were a trifle strong and which cut deeper than was intended. In this case we are sincerely sorry and can only say that we have not done it intentionally. Very probably names have been spelt wrong or left out altogether or misidentified. Again we can only say that we are human and prone to the frailties of the flesh. It is practically impossible to get all names correctly when such great numbers have to be listed and it is particularly easy to leave some out.

To all our many sources of assistance, photographer, engraver, printer and the like, we are sincerely grateful, for the task has been one which has caused much midnight electricity to be consumed in the basement of Irvin Hall and without this valuable aid the thing would have been impossible.

The staff which is responsible for this book, such as it may be, is as follows: Margaret Evans and Marjorie Leffler, co-ed sports; Virginia Pearce, campus life; John Howard and Sara Stevenson, organizations; John Mee and Drew Govan, activities; John Pfeiffer and Blair Williams, athletic; Jessie Walters and Sarah Stephenson, mountings; Arthur Clarke, art, assisted by Harry Davison, Margaret Belt, Eleonora Handschin, Minerva Clephane, Robert Patterson and Robert Coulton. Sophomore assistants for this year were Edward Brown, William Amos, Jack Roads, Elsie Martens, Elinor Houle, Ernestine Death, Marion Parman, Alice Lee Edwards, and Marjorie Evans. Mary Hester was typist for the staff. On the business end of the book helping Andy Althausen were Landon Rogers, Robert Smith, Don Frederick and Warren Hammel.

Music & Debate

Men's Debate

INTERCOLLEGIATE debating is constantly receiving more interest and attention not only from the college itself, but from neighboring towns where debates are held on neutral grounds. This system gives the non-college centers an opportunity to hear important current questions discussed by men who have studied intensively on the issue, "Resolved, that trial by jury should be abolished" was the question chosen by the debate coaches of Ohio last fall.

The first debate was with Albion college in Benton Hall. Next Washington and Lee University was met here. Following these debates, Miami opposed Indiana, Butler, and Depauw Universities in Hoosier territory.

After that Ohio University was encountered here, and then the University of Florida at Monroe. Then came dual meets with the University of Cincinnati and with Dennison. Ohio University followed at Athens. Following them were the Western State Teachers College of Michigan, Carlton College, and Loyola University, all of which were opposed in Benton Hall. Both teams were coached by Mr. Higgins of the Public Speaking Department.

Women's Debate

OMEN'S debating has now become an established activity on the Miami campus. This is the first year that the women have had an instructor, who was Miss Ruth Hemphill, graduate assistant in Public Speaking. The majority of debates were of the no decision type. Discussion from the floor after the finish of the debate has replaced the former custom of deciding the winner by a judge's ballot. Educational benefit to the audience is now sought rather than competition between the colleges.

The debate schedule opened at Hamilton in a no decision contest with the University of New York. A double debate was next held with Denison University, the Oregon plan being used. Next, Butler College was met and following them came De Pauw at Greencastle, Indiana. Indiana Central was next, a double debate. Lastly the Miami women faced DePauw for the second time at Connersville.

The question for debate was: "Resolved, That a law should be adopted by all states requiring a sentence of life imprisonment on fourth conviction of felony."

Band

MIAMI University boasted this year of a large and competent band. Under the directorship of Mr. Bert Keller, this organization succeeded in upholding its share in creating interest and enthusiasm at the football and basketball games. During every intermission and time out period, the "Big Red" musicians kept both the team and crowd in high spirits.

Two trips were made this year with the team. A large amount of praise must be given the band for their part in stimulating the spirit that defeated Wittenberg and Cincinnati, when they chartered busses and followed their football team. In both places, the appearance and efforts of the band displayed the true spirit of Miami.

Bert Keller was again band leader while Stuart Lane twirled the drum major's baton. Members were: Leonard Waines, Ellis Walker, Fred Morrison, Don Hoover, Basil Harmon, William MacFarquar, Karl Spreen, Richard Sanderson, Ralph Atherton, Kenneth Gamber, Vinton Siler, Wilfred Carter, Robert Engler, Frank Wiesson, Clarence Brackney, Frank Olsen, Hugo Rentzsch, Jim Hughes, Robert Damm, James Chapman, Thomas Allen, Willis Kirkbride, Dan Calihan, Homer Albaugh, Howard Rose, William Farley, Alfred Gross, Hugh Henshaw, Kenneth Evans, John Prucha, John Shafer, Earl Link, George Cox, William Guthrey, Carl Steinebrey, Clarence Ledyard, Alga Patterson, Willard Lentz, Robert Wiseman, David Peck, William Purcell, Robert Duffey, Don Heckert, Alvin Diess, Harold Eckroate, and Jack Welsh.

University Orchestra

AMONG the oldest organizations at Miami University is the University Orchestra. It was the first musical body on the campus and has occupied an important position in musical affairs since its founding. Its purpose is to provide an opportunity for advanced students in the Music Department to gain experience in orchestra presentations. Only modern and classical compositions of the highest type are played.

Membership in the orchestra is determined by individual tryouts at the beginning of the year. Semi-weekly rehearsals are held and academic credit is given to the members for their work. Vesper recitals are given; and at Glee Club and Ye Merrie Player's productions, the orchestra co-operates and furnishes the music. In addition, a concert is given by the organization in the Spring.

For the past year, the personnel of the orchestra has been as follows: Concert Mistress: Virginia Lafferty; Violins: V. Lafferty, B. Broatz, E. Barden, G. Kapp, A. Keitlinger, F. Keeling, G. Pippinger, M. Shaper, L. Rodabaugh, J. Ferguson, L. Hadsel, H. Albaugh, C. Bailey, M. Hubbs, E. Longenecker, L. Rodefer. Viola: Sibyl Evans. Cello: K. Evans. Coronets: L. Carrol, B. Erickson, A. Carr. Horn: C. West. Trombones: M. Parman, C. Wickerham. Clarinets: J. Hoffman, O. Spittler. Flute and Oboe: Prof. St. John. Drums: H. Rose. Piano: G. Glasgow.

Miami Men's Chorus

PERHAPS one of the most active organizations on the campus is the Miami Men's Chorus. This musical body is under the direction of Mr. William Ross who plans and supervises their entire repertoire of activities. Formerly, only conventional concerts were given by the club. However, this custom has been changed and now musical comedies or novelty acts are presented instead.

Last summer, the Chorus made a tour of Europe under the direction of the Arts Crafts Guild. Programs were given in Paris and London with minor renderings en route. Many alumni were included in the tour to participate in the revelry and to help advertise their Alma Mater.

Two concerts were presented on the campus this year. "Chauve Souris," a brief resume of their summer journey, was portrayed early in the fall. Their annual spring concert was a Russian program entitled "Rooshun Programsky."

Personnel of the club includes: William Ross, Director; David Pew, Accompanist; Robert Peters, President; and Carroll Pallerine, Librarian. First Tenors: Albaugh, Barzyk, Blankenship, Byrum, Hoffman, Meily, Miller, Pallerine, Pinnell, Rodabaugh, Unger, Welch. Second Tenors: Austin, Bush, Games, Griffith, Harter, Long, Mohr. Peterson, Schmidt, Slavin, Springer, Steman. Madrigal Club

HE Madrigal Club is one of the oldest musical organizations on the Miami campus. It was founded in the fall of 1908 by Professor R. H. Burke, author of the Miami March Song. Its purpose has been to study and present choruses and contatas for women's voices.

Membership in the organization is determined by individual try-outs. Two programs are given by the club each year. One presentation is made at Benton Hall, the other is at the Ohio Intercollegiate Contest. Although the girls failed to win the state contest at Cincinnati this year, nevertheless Harvey Gall, noted composer and judge of the contest, commented very favorably upon their showing.

The club is composed of Grace Overman, President; Garnet La Rue, Business Manager; Anne Amos, Lois Anderson, Elaine Anthony, Marcella Barkman, Ardelle Brown, Arletta Carr, Louise Carroll, Dorothy Donald, Ruth Donaldson, Mary Early, Billie Fee, Emily Fortune, Ruth Frankman, Vivian Glidewell, Martha Gowdy, Jeanette Hattendorf, Hilda Kinney, Virginia Lafferty, Elizabeth Lieckheim, Lois Leiter, Mildred Lenox, Eleanor Lichti, Ada Ludeke, Dorothy Martin, Genevieve Mead, Martha Mechlin, Dorothy Mefford, Ruth Mills, Marian Mitchell, Ruth Palmer, Viola Peacock, Virginia Peters, Peg Pflug, Rose Pilla, Gladys Pippenger, Hester Pullien, Mabel Riley, Madge Shaper, Elizabeth Shepherd, Elizabeth Sims, Gena Slusser, Frances Smith, Helen Smith, Lucile Smith, Dorothy Straub, Radia Swan, Gladys Viney, Jessie Walters.

Arion Choir

HE Arion Choir made its initial appearance at Miami last year under the name of the Vesper Chorus. It is composed of both the Madrigal and Glee Clubs along with numerous other independent singers on the campus.

Only on special occasions does the chorus sing. There is always an Easter and a Christmas program, however, under the direction of Professor Aubrey Martin. The personnel is as follows.

Phi Beta Kappa

THE Miami Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa (Iota of Ohio) was established in 1911. The object of the national society is the promotion of scholarship and friendship among the students and graduates of American colleges. The fraternity was founded at William and Mary College in 1776. Soon afterwards Yale and Harvard joined the movement and since then the society has grown steadily until it now has chapters in practically every university in the country. On the roll of Phi Beta Kappa are to be found the names of many of America's most famous men.

This organization plays an important part in all campus scholastic activities. Each year it awards the Phi Beta Kappa Scholarship Cups to the fraternity and sorority having the highest scholastic average for the previous semester. Also this year marked the inauguration of the Phi Beta Kappa Junior Scholarship which is awarded to the student who has made the most promising record during his first two years.

The members of the local chapter are:

Kappa Delta Pi

APPA DELTA PI, national educational fraternity, established Nu chapter at Miami University, April 29, 1922. This society was founded at the University of Illinois in 1909, and now numbers fifty chapters well distributed over the entire country.

Kappa Delta Pi holds for its purpose the encouragement of high professional and scholarly standards and strives to recognize outstanding service in the field of education. One of the most active of honoraries, this organization meets bi-weekly, and is entertained from time to time at the homes of patronesses. The interest of the meetings has been added to this year by the presence of men of note. Dr. Surrey, head of the Department of Education at New York University and a national officer of the fraternity, lectured to the group. Drs. Peckstein and Gregory, of the Educational Department of the University of Cincinnati, aided in the initiation of the six seniors and nine juniors chosen to membership this year.

Officers for 1928-29 are Joyce Hedrick, President; Edith Smelker, Vice-President; Mildred Grimes, Treasurer; Mildred Tuley, Recording Secretary; Antoinette Press, Corresponding Secretary; Louise Wood, Historian; Selma Press, Reporter.

The complete membership for 1928-29 was: J. Hedrick, E. Smelker, M. Grimes, M. Tuley, A. Press, S. Press, L. Wood, Mr. Bunger, Dr. Carter, Miss Cathcart, Mr. Christofferson, Mr. Collins, Miss Corl, Dr. Davis, Mrs. Finch, Dr. Guiler, Miss Griffith, Miss Hanna, Dr. Heckert, Mr. Jenkins, Mrs. Joyner, Dr. McConnell, Miss McDill, Dr. McMillan, Mrs. McNelly, Miss O'Conner, Miss Page, Mrs. Richard, H. Phi Eta Sigma

HI ETA SIGMA, national scholastic honorary fraternity for freshman men, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1917. The Miami chapter was established in 1928. The fraternity now has seven chapters situated almost entirely in the middle-west. It is the purpose of the society to foster and encourage scholarship among the freshmen.

Membership in the fraternity is based solely on scholarship during the freshman year. Elections are held twice a year. A man failing to make the required average of 3.50 at the end of the first semester may still be elected at the end of the second, if his average for the whole year is up to that required.

Each year the society selects some member of the senior class to act as senior advisor for that year. Lloyd Douglas was the advisor during 1928-29 and Albert Dietz will be advisor for 1929-30. The man ceases to be an active member at the end of his sophomore year.

Tau Kappa Alpha

AU KAPPA ALPHA, an Honorary Intercollegiate Oratorical and Debating Fraternity, was founded at Indianapolis, Indiana in 1908. The Miami chapter was established in 1909. The participation in intercollegiate debates and oratorical contests is the basis for admission into society. Up to the year 1927 only men were eligible but with the introduction of women's debating several years ago, women became eligible for membership. The organization publishes a magazine called "The Speaker," which is issued four times a year.

The purpose of the fraternity is to stimulate interest in debating and oratory and to this end they seek to lead forensics into a renaissance of public appreciation of the art of speech. In 1928 the local chapter brought to Miami an English Debating Team representing the British National Union of Students. This contest proved unique and interesting because of the great difference between the English and American styles of debating. Tau Kappa Alpha also entertains the visiting debate teams.

Phi Mu Alpha

HI MU ALPHA, national music fraternity, was founded at the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, Massachusetts, in 1898. It now consists of forty-four chapters in the leading conservatories, colleges, and universities in the United States. The Alpha Theta Chapter was established at Miami in 1923. It is an honorary organization rather than an honor society and membership is limited to those men who are actively interested in the advancement of music and have made a good showing in college.

Bi-monthly luncheons are held at which time all business is transacted and informal programs given by the members. The organization makes it a policy to present a program of American music each year. It also conducts the annual interfraternity sing and awards a cup to the winning fraternity.

Professor Martin of the Miami Music Department is National President.

Delta Omicron

U Chapter of Delta Omicron was established at Miami University in the spring of 1923, as an honor society with eight members. The purposes of the organization are to create and foster fellowship, to develop character, to arouse and encourage the appreciation of good music and performance among musicians during their student days, so that the highest degree of musicianship may be attained individually.

Membership is open to those students taking the public school music course. In order to be eligible for membership the student must maintain a B average.

Musicals are given by the members at the regular monthly meetings. In May a twilight recital is presented, to which the student body is invited. The program is planned so that unusual and varied features of music may be brought to the attention of the student body.

Phi Beta Phi

HI BETA PHI, the honorary journalistic fraternity, was founded at Miami in 1925. Membership in the organization is limited to thirteen men who have shown superior journalistic ability. Once a year the organization publishes a "Yellow Sheet" containing a humorous and satirical treatment of all branches of campus life and activity. It is the purpose of the fraternity to foster the best literary endeavors of the student body, and to aid in the dissemination of news.

One of the principal aims of the present body is that of uniting with some national journalistic group. With the discontinuance of the Journalism Department in 1924, Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary journalistic fraternity, withdrew the local charter. Interest in journalism has steadily increased at Miami during the last five years, especially during the last year, and it is probable that Phi Beta Phi will soon become a chapter of some national honorary.

Lambda Tau

AMBDA TAU, a women's honorary literary-journalistic society, was founded at Miami in 1918. It is the aim of the organization to promote and stimulate literary activity of the highest type and to give some recognition to those who have done honor work in literature, especially in the field of creative thinking.

It was founded at Miami primarily with the purpose of promoting literary interests in the University and of putting out a literary magazine—The Miami. Since the discontinuance of this publication the society has remained strictly honorary.

Women who are eligible for membership must be highly recommended by a professor of the English department and must have shown exceptional ability in creative literary lines. The membership is limited to ten.

Meetings of the organization are held monthly at which time informal discussions of books, poetry, and plays are held, and original work of the members read and criticized.

Liberal Arts Club

IN 1903, the Liberal Arts Club was founded at Miami University including in its membership practically all of the girls on the campus. Established here before the advent of sororities, the Liberal Arts Club in addition to serving as the women's literary society, also filled the capacity of a social organization. Dr. Hepburn was an early honorary member of the club and Miss Mary Covington, now Mrs. S. R. Williams, was its first president.

With the rapid growth of women's enrollment at Miami, due in a large measure to the addition of the Teacher's College, the club expanded so rapidly that it became necessary to establish a new basis of eligibility for membership. Consequently, since 1908 membership is limited to those women in the Liberal Arts College who maintain a high scholarly standing in all subjects and who do especially good work in the English department.

To encourage the study and appreciation of literature, periodic meetings are held at which works of literary interest are presented and discussed. Twenty-two new members were pledged at an informal tea this year. Later these candidates were initiated and were the guests at a beautiful banquet at the Green Owl.

Officers of the club for 1929 were: Elsie L. Martens, President; Dorothy Hoffmeister, Vice-President; Mary Hester, Secretary-Treasurer; Margaret Shaw, Grade Inspector.

The members of the club are: C. Camine, A. Hiestand, G. Overman, D. Darrow, E. Decatur, R. Egan, E. Giles, E. Howard, C. Kolter, G. North, F. Potter, M. Ayres, H. Dick, J. Handy, D. Hoffmeister, A. Alethenai LETHENAI, a national literary society, was founded at the University of Illinois. The Treis Chapter was established at Miami in 1915. The purpose of the organization is to stimulate interest in creative literary work. This is done through the study of the works of the great writers and through the recognition of individual efforts in this field.

Membership is limited to those women in the Liberal Arts and Bachelor of Science Colleges who have attained honor grades. The symbol of the society is a small gold gavel pin. Meetings are held monthly when interesting programs are given by members of the faculty who also lead informal discussions at various times throughout the year.

The officers of the local chapter are: Louise Wood, President; Marjorie Leffler, Vice-President; Martha Baker, Secretary; Mildred Tuley, Treasurer.

The members of the society during 1928 and 1929 were: C. Adler, L. Anderson, M. Baker, W. Baringer, G. Becca, M. Clephane, F. Cochran, E. Crawford, E. Death, R. Diechman, M. Dillencourt, M. K. Kappa Phi Kappa

I Chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa, founded at Dartmouth College in 1922, was established at Miami in February of 1925. This professional Educational Fraternity has for its purpose the advancement of the cause of education by encouraging men of recognized ability, and of sound moral character to engage in the study of its principles and problems.

Monthly meetings are held at which members take charge of the discussion groups. The presence of professors in the educational departments has been a feature of some meetings. These men, noted in their field, have done much to add to the interest and knowledge derived from discussions. They number such professors as Dr. C. V. Good, of the Department of Education, Dr. F. C. Whitcomb, of the Department of Industrial Arts, and Dr. J. V. McMillan, of the Department of Education.

Although doing little outside of the organization itself, this group, with the aid of the Department of Education, has greatly helped its members and those who have been guests.

Officers for 1928-29 are: C. T. Collins, President; E. J. Duncan, Vice-President; K. Detling, Secretary; S. McClure, Treasurer.

Members were as follows:

Delta Sigma Pi

DELTA SIGMA PI, international commerce fraternity, was founded at New York University, November 7, 1907. The Alpha Upsilon Chapter was established at Miami on April 16, 1927. The fraternity has as its purpose, the fostering of the study of business in universities: the encouragement of scholarship and the association of students for their mutual advancement by research and practices. It also seeks to promote a closer affiliation between the commercial world and students of commerce, and to further a higher standard of commercial welfare of the community.

The membership is limited to upperclassmen in the School of Business who rank in the upper half of the class. Luncheons are held on the first and third Tuesdays of each month, at which time the business meetings are held.

Each year the Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key is awarded to the most outstanding Senior in the School of Business. The selection is made by the faculty.

Officers of the local chapter are: Harry Gerlach, President; Nick Bennett, Vice-President; Cecil Moyer, Secretary; Howard Brenneman, Treasurer.

Eta Sigma Phi

ETA SIGMA PHI, national classical fraternity, was founded in 1925 as the Undergraduate Classical Club of the University of Chicago. Beta Chapter, installed at Northwestern University soon after, established the organization as a national fraternity, which now has a chapter roll numbering twenty-seven.

Sigma chapter was established at Miami in May of 1927 and, with the backing of the Latin and Greek departments, exists as the honorary of those departments. Dr. F. L. Clark and Prof. F. L. Hadsel are faculty members.

In addition to attempting to increase the interest in the classics, Eta Sigma Phi promotes good fellowship and social interest among the classical students. Many chapters have assumed the responsibility of organizing and directing Latin clubs in nearby high schools. "Nuntius," the national publication, appears four times during the college year. A high standing in the classical studies is necessary for eligibility to Eta Sigma Phi.

Honorary members include Dean Hamilton and Miss Annabel E. Cathcart. For the year 1928-29 the officers are: Mildred Grimes, President; Robert Edmunds, Vice-President; Naomi Miller, Secretary; Mildred Tuley, Treasurer; and John Nenninger, Sergeant-at-arms.

Members of the society are: M. Grimes, R. Edmunds, N. Miller, M. Tuley, J. Nenninger, B. Buchanan, M. Dillencourt, D. Franz, G. Smith, M. Thornhill, H. Dick, L. Galbreath, E. Howard, G. Jones, M. Phi Sigma

HI SIGMA, the National Biological Honorary Fraternity, was founded at Ohio State University in 1915. Its membership is limited to those Students of the Junior and Senior classes and to those professors, who have shown aptitude, interest, and special ability for research in the biological sciences. Such members come from the fields of Botany, Zoology, and Geology.

The meetings of the society are held bi-monthly at which time informal talks are given by the students or members of the faculty on their particular work or on fields in which they have done considerable reading. The society also brings to the campus each year speakers prominent in the field of biological science.

Each year the Phi Sigma Awards are given to the students who have made the most creditable showing in each branch of the organization.

The following are honorary members of the society: Dr. S. R. Williams, Dr. B. M. Davis, Dr. D. DaCruz, Dr. W. H. Shidler, Dr. A. T. Evans, Paul Dunn, Marion Boesel, David Pew, Joyce Hedrick, Hubert Connarroe, Walter McNelly, and William Reed.

The officers for 1928-29 were: John Lotze, President; Antoinette Press, Vice-President; Edith Smelker, Secretary; and Stanley McClure, Treasurer.

Phi Gamma Phi

PHI GAMMA PHI, honorary French fraternity was founded in 1923. Feeling the need of such an organization, Dr. Brandon and Mr. Irvin of the French department sponsored the establishment of this society. Phi Gamma Phi has two principle aims; to honor those students who have done meritorious work in French and to stimulate interest in French literature, art, and history.

Sixteen meetings of the society are held during the school year. The group endeavors to bring to these meetings outside speakers who lecture on life, customs, and the tradition of France. Conversation in French is especially stressed at these meetings.

Phi Gamma Phi has been fortunate in having in their midst Susanne Fleche, a French student studying at Miami. Miss Fleche has delivered many interesting talks with her native country for her subject.

The officers are: Erma Schmidt, President; Virginia Senseman, Vice-President; Bernice Buchanan, Secretary and Treasurer. Membership is as follows:

Alpha Kappa Delta

ALPHA KAPPA DELTA, the national honorary sociological fraternity, was founded at the University of Southern California in 1920.

Ohio Alpha was established at Miami University in 1925.

The purpose of the society is to promote interest in sociology and social research work. Students eligible to membership are those majoring, or doing honor work in sociology and to those students in the elementary courses who show high scholastic attainment.

Meetings are held each month at which informal discussions are held. Members of the society present at these meetings papers on social research which lead to helpful discussions.

As a further stimulus, Alpha Kappa Delta endeavors to bring to its meetings prominent men in the field of social service work. Professor Reed, formerly head of the department of sociology at Miami and now director of the Helen Tronstein Foundation in Cincinnati, was a guest of Alpha Kappa Delta this year. His lecture was one of especial interest to sociology students.

Officers during 1928-29 were: Garnette LaRue, President; Ruth Thompson, Vice-President; Thelma Sortman, Secretary; and Lloyd Douglass, Treasurer.

Membership consisted of:

J. Milholand	R. Thompson	M. E. Redford	M. W. Wilson

Arts Club

HE Arts Club was founded at Miami University in May 1928, but it was not until this year that the organization reached a stage of permanent development. It was founded by the students of the Art Curriculum. The purpose of the club is to encourage art work among the students and to recognize individual achievements in this field.

The membership is limited to students in art majors, the art teachers, those registered in art classes, and others who have shown sufficient ability and interest in art and the club to justify their being members. Meetings are held bi-monthly, the business meetings alternating with the social meetings.

Each year a prize is awarded for the best work of a certain type done by a member of the organization. Prizes are also awarded at the annual exhibit held by the club.

The officers of the society are: Marie Withgott, President; Miriam Deeter, Secretary; Russell Confer, Treasurer.

The members of the club are: Mr. Hodgins, Miss Webster, Mrs. Chambers, Miss Solomon, Miss McCallum, Miss Swisher, K. Wendorf, E. Kessing, D. Yeager, M. Barkman, M. Schocke, F. Cochran, R. Leeds, M. Ye Merrie Players

YE MERRIE PLAYERS, the local dramatic society was founded in 1910. It has been the purpose of the organization to arouse interest on the campus in dramatics. To this end were brought here by Ye Merrie Players, E. H. Sothern, well-known Shakespearian interpreter, and Kenneth MacGowan, one of the country's foremost dramatic critics.

An unusually stupendous task was sponsored by Director Gates and the Ye Merrie Players in the production of "The Quest of the Great Quezarre" as the annual Mid-Year presentation.

The freshman plays "The Valiant" and "The Robbery" were sponsored by this society, as were several one-act efforts, including "White Elephant," "Good Medicine," "Gas, Air and the Earl," and "The Knave of Hearts."

In so large a cast as was used in the Mid-Year Play, Ye Merrie Players found a great deal of dramatic talent. Accordingly, nineteen new members were initiated on March twenty-eight into Ye Merrie Players.

Officers for 1928-29 were Paul McNamara, President; Drew Govan, Vice-President; E. Giles, Secretary; D. Callihan, Treasurer.

Members for this year are:

Miami Life

Frosh Stuff

The big day arrives. Drowsy Oxford Town is suddenly transformed into a busy hive of new students, eager to start into the new life. Crowds gather at the station to greet each incoming train. Then the upperclassmen and the Frosh-Soph contests. Frosh win these events but the fight is a fizzle—Sophs fail to show up. Girls wear freak costumes and carry suitcases.

Fall

Ohio-Miami football game is Dad's Day. Football dads brave Jupiter Pluvius to get pictures taken and watch Miami stage comeback to win. Dad Wolfe is still on the job. Crowds gather to send the team off to Denison and cut across lots after the games are over. The Chest Drive—everyone hides. Horesback riding a popular Fall sport. Leaves get raked up.

Home

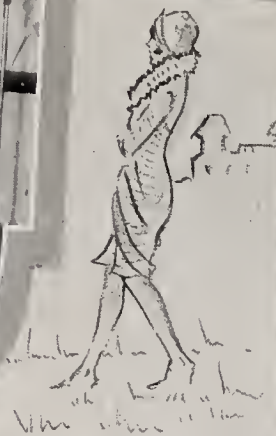

The biggest day of the year. Homecoming and President Upham's inauguration. Alumni pour into town and fill every available space to overflowing. Pep speeches are held in Benton the day before. Frosh work overtime to build largest fire of the year. More pep speeches at night in the light of the roaring blaze. In the morning

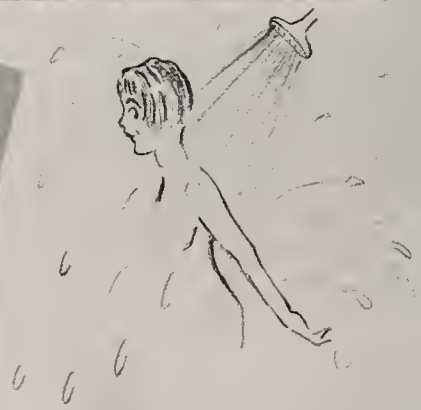

Coming

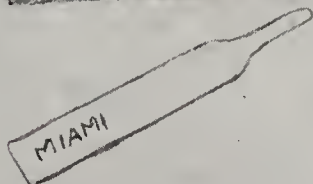

Wesleyan arrives in town and are conducted uptown. Fraternity houses in gala attire—Phi Delt's win first place. The big parade forms and marches to the field. Stands are packed to capacity. Bands perform on the field. A smashing, hard-fought game and Miami goes down to glorious defeat. Everyone is satisfied, though. Dances, alumni reunions and it is all over.

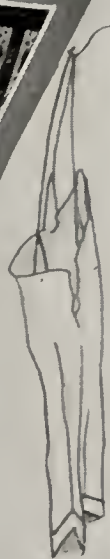

Dorm

Dorm Life isn't all study. Girls stage feeds and cause occupants of favored rooms to have heart-failure. Souvenirs decorate the walls and look serenely on while owners get ready for heavy "date." To study one must be comfortable. Smoking is forbidden. Sweet dreams are caught by the cameraman. Sessions are the order of the day after ten o'clock, latest flames being the chief topics.

Life

A couple of friendly little games in Ogden Hall. The eight o'clock rush, everything is misplaced. Studying is done under difficulties when walls are properly decorated. Morpheus wins out and books are laid aside. One A. M. radio programs are best while phonographs are in use all hours of the night. Shaving is inconvenient but must be done before going out with the little hot sketch.

Winter

Oldest inhabitants claim Oxford never saw such a cold winter before. Students take advantage of the deep snow to freeze themselves on a night sleigh ride. The horses had a good time according to reports. The incline by Irvin Hall makes a good slide. The slant walk becomes a narrow trail leading out to town. A couple of acrobats perform. The Tallawanda looks different in winter.

Time

St. John returns to the days of his youth via the slide while Anderson takes his surveying classes out amid the howling wilderness north of the athletic fields to survey and freeze. Bob-sledding is the fraternities' major winter sport. The co-eds get real wild and cavort in the snow like young gazelles while the cannon in the town square gets a good work-out.

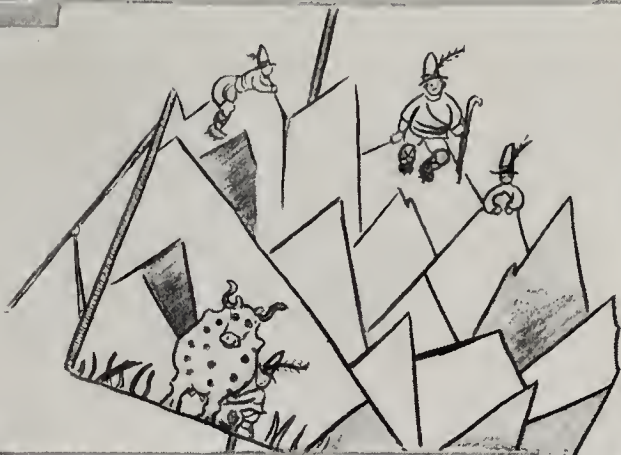

Mid-Year Play

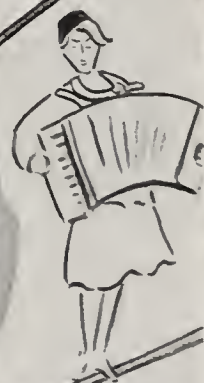

"The Quest of the Quezarre," Loren Gates' own production of his student days is the Mid-Year Play. A musical comedy entailing much work and elaborate setting. Charlie Rogers brings down house as Golly, the Beggar. Govan, Overman, Satterfield, Giles, Griffith, Anderson, Al'baugh, Barton, Belt put on fine acting ably assisted by chorus and orchestra to make production a success. "Bologna" rules the world.

Chauve Souris

"Where is My Meyer" resounds as Bill Ross' Glee Club puts on a Chauve Souris. Men's Glee Club takes a trip to Europe and returns to tell Miami all about it. "Sparky" chases yodelers off his alps, Belt and Wurnelle get passionate while the dance of Death goes over big. The dancing chorus is well applauded by the football team and the whole thing is a huge success.

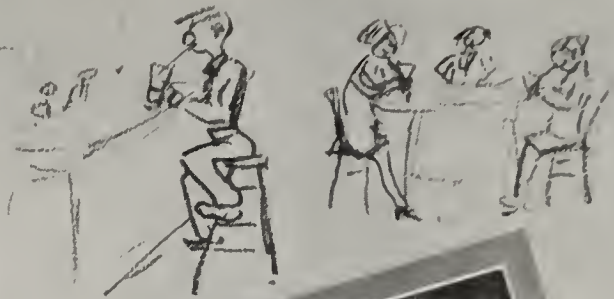

Social

The major dances begin with the Sophomore Hop. Chump is king—all hail! A cafeteria greets Prom guests who dance until far into the night to the strains of Hoagie Carmichael's artists. Ardelle Brown and Luke Reed lead the promenade. Watterson, Lane and Adams do fine jobs as chairmen. D. U's. and Betas take their lives in their hands and throw a joint post-prom—no casualties reported.

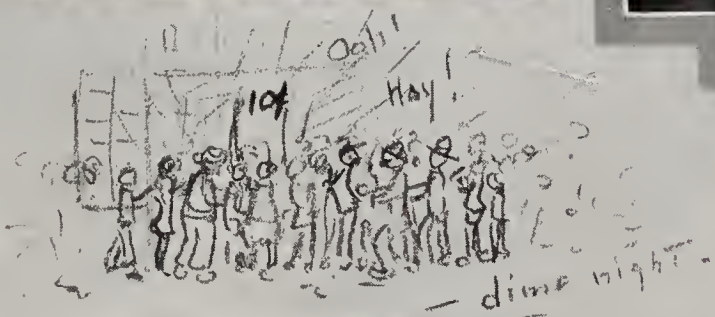

Handwritten note: "Prom King is Chump"

Whirl

Not all social life is formal, however. George Purity, Willy Bros. and Folker's do a rushing Saturday night business. Dancing at the Green Owl is something new and goes over big. Dime night at the Oxford Emporium of clean, uplifting pictures is a riot. Fisher Hall Frosh throw a dance well attended by upperclassmen. But, the camera cannot get the moonlight idylls —too bad.

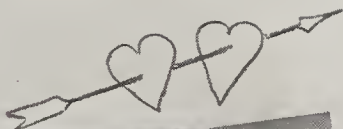

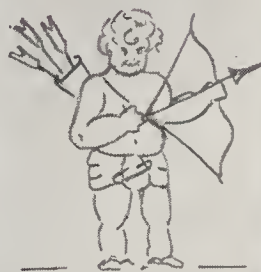

Sweethearts

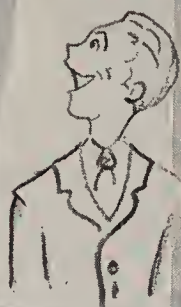

"In the Spring the young man's fancy . . . " does not hold at Miami because thoughts of love are prevalent all the year around in the minds of many of the Oxford intelligensia. Pin-planting is a favorite pastime of many members of certain fraternal groups while certain other groups are well represented on the receiving end. Four o'clock at Willis Brothers is the daily routine for these people and here the Campus Owls blast tender thoughts into the minds of lasscs and swains. In the Spring the Tallawanda is a favorite stamping ground for strollers while hidden cans are secretly hauled forth to whisk Dan's captives far from the maddening crowd. No park benches are allowed to grow lonesome and the full moon gets in some murderous work.

Spring

Books are forgotten, paper, pen and ink are pushed aside and it is too bad. The old Tallawanda road becomes once more a lively spot, the banks are frequented by couples as the year rapidly draws to a close. Mildred Todhunter is May Queen. Exams and everyone goes out for air, the academic procession at Commencement and another year has passed into history.

Coaches

Miami students may feel happy that Chester M. Pittser decided to become an athletic coach instead of a mining engineer. Since coming to Miami, the consistent showing of his football and baseball teams has placed him high among the coaches of Ohio.

Pittser-coached teams are well grounded in fundamentals and intensely loyal to Miami and their quiet, modest coach. While other teams are flashing a superficial early season form, Miami teams coached by Pittser improve slowly, but steadily reaching the peak in mid-season.

Roy E. Tillotson, head basketball coach and assistant football and baseball coach, has been a valuable man on the coaching staff.

In football much credit is due him for the defensive work of Miami's line.

He has molded the varied material which comes to Miami from many different schools and coached under many systems into basketball teams which, with one exception, have all been near the top in the state. During his four years here he has produced four players who received All-Buckeye honors.

In 1927 Miami's fast-progressing athletic department needed a good freshman coach. They chose Merlin A. Ditmer, head coach of the four major sports at Otterbein College. To him was assigned the task of picking prospects from the freshman candidates, grounding them in fundamentals and developing them into seasoned teams, ready for varsity competition in their sophomore year.

Trained in seven of the best coaching schools in the country, Coach Ditmer has proven that men will work hard and train faithfully for a coach of his ability and personality.

To Thomas P. Van Voorhis, assistant professor of physical education and director of intramural athletics, goes most of the credit for the prestige attached to Miami's intramural sport system. Upon graduating from Miami, he accepted the position here and immediately began to develop what was then still an unorganized experiment and reduced it almost to a science. As a result the intramural system he has built up has become the model for many Mid-West colleges and universities.

Tribe Miami

IAMI athletes have in the past and are now maintaining an enviable record among college athletic circles in Ohio. A goodly number of all-Ohio or all-Buckeye men, as well as record holders in track are among them.

The Burkhardt Trophy, that emblem of rivalry between Miami and Cincinnati was again brought to Oxford as a result of their efforts and Miami now has a comfortable lead in the points scored to date.

Yell Miami

ED by a squad of six wiry cheer leaders, Jack Lutton, at the head, "Johnny" Mee, "Renny" Wurnelle, "Terry" Turner, "Bill" Miller and "Bob" Steman, the spirit of Miami's student body has been encouraging to note.

Nor was it evident only at the actual scene of the games. Before the big games Benton Hall resounded with a noisy tumult to the music of a complete band. Large crowds attended the pep meetings, bonfires were built at Cook Field, where cheer leaders and eloquent speakers aroused spirit and enthusiasm in the student body for the contest on the following day. Freshmen are still paying for the material which was appropriated for the fire. Many a new garage has been financed after the original went up in flames on Cook field.

On Saturday afternoons, hundreds of co-eds clad in red and white outfits, and as many youths in their sport wear were seen and heard marching down High Street to the games behind the band. The most unique display of all occurred the night before the football game with the highly touted Ohio Wesleyan team. Fisher Hall freshmen attired in their pajamas, led by the cheer leaders and their own band marched around to all the dormitories, singing and cheering to instill defiance in the Big Reds.

Varsity Football

AFTER an inauspicious beginning marked by two defeats, Miami's team, composed mostly of green men, began to function the last half of the season and at Thanksgiving time was considered by some critics to be the strongest team in the Buckeye.

In the two preliminary games, the team showed only mediocre promise. Then disaster met them at Dennison where they suffered a 21 to 0 defeat. By a heroic comeback the team held the highly touted Ohio Wesleyan eleven to twelve points. The impetus received from this game welded the squad together and carried them on to four decisive victories, giving them third place in the Buckeye Association.

The veterans on the team were: McCall, Richardson, Shuster, Fletcher, Larick, Whittaker, and Glick, seniors; Vossler and McPhillips, juniors. The new men who distinguished themselves and are expected to brighten prospects for next fall are: Althausen, Brown, Butler, Gordon, Halpin, North, Parratt, and Rogers.

Freshman Football

ORTY freshmen, of the one hundred twenty-five to respond to the first call for football remained on the squad until the close of the season, providing good hard scrimmage for the varsity as well as developing men to fill in the vacancies next fall.

What the boys lacked in weight, they compensated for in speed shiftiness and alertness, and even that deficiency should be overcome by next fall.

Coach Ditmer is proud of the squad's faithful attendance at all practices and also of the fact that only two were dropped on account of scholarship.

The following men showed promise this fall: ends, Niemi, Clinger, Fulton, Lloyd; tackles, Kranbuehl, Vance, Neff; guards, McCalla, Henderson, Parratt, Hartman, Trauthwein; center, Vaccariello, Heischman, McGarvey; backs, Corry, Cartwright, Castillo, Sanderson, Cooper, Dowell, Dimatteo, Harper, Kneale, W. Smith, C. Smith.

Freshman managers were: Seibert, Mohline, and Woodruff.

Miami's Big Reds celebrated the opening of the football season by giving Defiance College a 40 to 0 drubbing. At times the team displayed good technique in the execution of plays, and at others, poor judgment, weak offense, and penalties showed that the team needed more experience.

Big George Vossler started the game with a beautiful march to a touchdown from the 40 yard line. Throughout the game, Paul Brown's ability to kick, pass, and at broken field running was pleasing to watch, and Bob Whittaker's name, as usual, also covered the pads of the rival sleuths.

Numerous substitutes were given their first real try-outs. Roscoe Butler, small but hard-hitting fullback, showed his potentialities when he drove through for a touchdown. Jimmy Gordon, speedy end, caught passes a la Richardson.

As a practice game and an opener, it served well to give Coach Pittser a line on material and to give the fourteen sophomores and fourteen juniors who saw service in it some valuable experience. Miami's line averaged 185 pounds and the backfield 175 pounds.

In the second game of the season, the scrappy Transylvania eleven from Kentucky forced the Big Red's offense to the limit to chalk up an 8 to 0 victory. Nobody thought that they would have a chance when Bob Whittaker bolted across the goal line, after Miami had intercepted a pass and Vossler had completed one to Richardson.

But a safety in the second quarter was all Miami could score after that.

During the first quarter Crutcher kept Miami on the defensive with his excellent punting. Penalties spoiled their chance to score when they recovered a fumble on Miami's two yard line.

Miami scored its safety in the second quarter when Crutcher's punt was blocked behind his own goal line.

Both teams came about equally close to scoring during the last half of the game. Vossler's punting and Butler's plunging and receiving of Brown's accurate passes featured for Miami.

Miami next traveled to Granville only to lose a heartbreaker to Denison in the first quarter. Before the echo of the opening whistle had died away, Denison had fourteen points—a touchdown on a blocked punt and another one on an intercepted pass, all without having had possession of the ball. An earned touchdown a few minutes later, made the final score 21 to 0.

A badly crippled team took the field for Miami. Richardson and Larick went out in the first quarter, the former for the rest of the season, and Vossler followed soon after. However, he returned in the last quarter to make some fine runs. Although Miami equalled Denison in first downs earned, she could not cope with the superior kicking, passing, and blocking of the well-coached and scrappy opponents. Injuries to the regulars forced Coach Pittser to use nine sophomores during most of the game.

Transylvania is stopped dead.

The Homecoming game was full of fight, pep, thrills and suspense as the Miami gridders fought hard and valiantly to hold the highly touted Delaware eleven to a 12 to 0 victory.

Despite eight completed passes by Wesleyan, Miami could be conceded the advantage in the first half, so thoroughly did they check the offense of the Bishops. But in the second half, Miami's line began to crumble. Wesleyan scored first in the third quarter by means of line plunges and passes after they had recovered a punted ball in Miami's territory and again in the fourth quarter after a steady march from their 25 yard line. Gordon and Halpin, ends, played consistently. Althaus, McCall, and Rogers gave good accounts of themselves on the line, and Brown played a brainy game at quarter.

In the next game Miami staged a real comeback, by defeating Ohio U. 20 to 13 in one of the most thrilling games ever seen on Miami field.

Throughout the first half, Miami was battered, outplayed, and tricked. McKinley, the star ball carrier for Ohio plunged the ball over after a fumble by Butler. They scored again at the start of the third quarter when Whittaker fumbled a punt. A little later Butler avenged himself by racing 35 yards for a touchdown on a pass from Brown. Miami's hope took on new life. Whittaker, Butler, and Larick started a march toward the goal. Vossler was then inserted in the fray. Displaying his tremendous plunging power in a spectacular forty yard march down the field, another goal made the score 13 to 12 still in Ohio's favor. The play that turned the affair came with but four minutes to play. Ohio had held Miami on the two yard line. In dropping back to punt, McKinley stepped over the end zone line giving Miami two winning points. Whittaker then clinched the game, and also redeemed his costly fumble by intercepting a pass and running twenty yards for another touchdown.

Miami, confident from its last victory, went to Oberlin and defeated them for the third consecutive time by a score of 18 to 0. They are now wondering how many victories the Big Reds need to avenge a single homecoming defeat.

In this game Brown flipped passes right and left a la Eddie Wohlwender. Gordon caught the first one deep in Oberlin's territory. Whittaker and Butler worked it over from the 10 yard line. Larick caught another. Vossler and Whittaker carried it over. The third touchdown resulted when Oberlin fumbled a punt on its own two yard line. Oberlin threatened to score but twice and were completely outclassed by Miami's improved defense and aerial attack.

At Wittenberg, Miami upset all dope in winning an 18 to 0 battle from the warring Lutherans.

Jimmy Gordon caught a wonderful pass from Brown for the initial touchdown in the first quarter. In the third quarter, Brown returned a punt through a broken field from mid-field to the 32 yard line. He then completed the job with a thirty yard pass to the fleetfooted Gordon for another goal. Miami's next touchdown came as a surprise. Whittaker, veteran of three campaigns, by several long runs had gotten the ball to Wittenberg's 37 yard line from Miami's 25 yard mark. Butler, the doughty sophomore, showed his heels to the whole Lutheran team as he went around end for the remaining distance.

Wittenberg fought hard all during the game threatening several times to change the tide of battle, once especially just before the end of the first half when Miami held them several inches from the goal line as the gun went off.

The Big Reds, now considered by some critics the strongest team in the Buckeye, wound up its season with a triumphant 34 to 0 victory over Cincinnati. The seniors, donning their outfits for the last time, all gave their very best. The speedy Bob Whittaker skirted the tackles and plunged through center for three touchdowns. Larick, the unheralded blocking halfback, was a bulwark stopping the Bearcat offensive time and again. In the forward wall, Wyatt McCall, All-Ohio tackle for three seasons, more than lived up to his reputation. Paul Glick started the game at quarterback. His passing was excellent and his returning of punts was notable. Fletcher at end and Shuster at tackle also played fine games. Of the underclassmen Vossler was outstanding in his passing, kicking, and plowing the line. Roscoe Butler also did some fine plunging. Parratt, steady performing guard, blocked a punt and then carried it to the 5 yard line. Gordon and Halpin proved to be real flankers. This victory placed Miami third in the Buckeye Association.

Miami coaches are looking forward to a different sort of football season next fall. This year's team had to begin minus the services of five All-Ohio men, namely: Stryker, Wohlwender, Sie-laff, Oswald, and Thatcher, which was almost a team in itself. This left seven seniors and two juniors, around which to build a strong squad. Sophomores were necessarily used a great deal of the time, and it took the first four games to mold the two groups into a coordinating aggregation. Injuries kept Glick, senior quarterback, from really getting started and Richardson's serious leg injury in the Denison game kept him out of the sport for the remainder of the season. The loss of these two valuable men deprived the team of a bulwark of strength, morale, and experience.

Despite the loss of the seniors McCall, Richardson, Shuster, Fletcher, Tillman, Whittaker, Larick, and Glick, prospects for next year look very cheering. Practically every position is provided for by the sophomores who were getting experience last fall, and Coach Ditmer had trained plenty of fast, hard-hitting, and scrappy freshmen to fill first and second string positions. All that is needed now is the return of all these men, and the confidence that bad breaks shall not spoil their fond hopes for a championship team.

A perfect tackle.

HE prospects for a championship contender among the hardwood artists of the Buckeye from Miami were exceedingly good both on paper and in reality in pre-season practices and pre-season forecasts. After two years of hard work, Coach Roy Tillotson had developed a group of basketballers, who individually considered, were the cream of the Buckeye circuit, and a group from whom great things were expected—maybe a championship in 1928-1929, to follow the anti-climax; a tie for second honors in 1927-1928. But, as coach Tillotson said at the outset of the season, "The desire for a championship is a good thing, but to expect a championship is another proposition."

However, it is easy to see why followers of the court game felt confident that the Big Red team would place in the Buckeye race when one considers the personnel of the squad. Taylor and Clouser, forwards; Canfield, center; Richardson, Hindman, Douglas, and McEntire, guards, all lettermen, reported for practice. Last year's frosh squad offered several good men of whom the out-standing were Moyer, Steinhauer, Gerrard, and Halpin. Other performers of no mean ability who answered the call were Crockett, Bollechino, Wertz, North, Dexter and Edwards.

Freshman Basketball

EVENTY candidates answered the first call for freshman basketball, and presented an array of talent from which coaches Ditmer and Pittser were able to select twenty men who were to compose the freshmen team of 1928-1929.

The personnel of the squad contained some of the best basketball ability that Ohio high schools produced last year. This year's squad was characterized by high grade co-operation in floor work and the passing it displayed. Several of the boys are exceedingly fast, and one or two of them have uncanny eyes when it comes to hitting the basket.

One is unable to tell much about the freshman squad as a group because they were forced to change their style of play every week so that the varsity could practice against the same style of play that they were to meet in their next game. However, the frosh were capable of adapting themselves to all styles of play and performed in a creditable manner. They also showed up well in games against various fraternity and all-star teams in preliminary encounters before varsity games.

The Red warriors opened the 1928-1929 season by handing Earlham College at Richmond the short end of a 43 to 34 score. Then during Christmas vacation, Coach Tiltonson's crew invaded the hills of old Kentucky and other points with varying degrees of success. Kentucky Wesleyan and Georgetown University were handed defeats; the former 34 to 19, and the latter 40 to 33. Hamilton "Y" also fell before the Big Reds in a hotly contested game, 25 to 23. The boys from Oxford were unable to dispose of Kentucky U. and Cincinnati "Y", two powerful quintets, and were forced to take the lower score of a 43-42 count from the former, and a 35-24 count from the "Y" team.

Miami opened the court pastime in Oxford by defeating Georgetown U. the second time in a loosely played contest. The local boys displayed a slight reversal of form, but managed to come through with baskets when they were needed, and Georgetown was never able to get in the lead.

On January 12, the Buckeye season-opened here with the Cincinnati Bearcats as the attraction. Canfield drew first blood for the Red Warriors, but Miami's advantage did not last long as last year's champs whipped their long shot artists, Franz and Early, into action and were never headed. However, Taylor and Clouser kept Miami in the game with their good offensive work. Taylor,

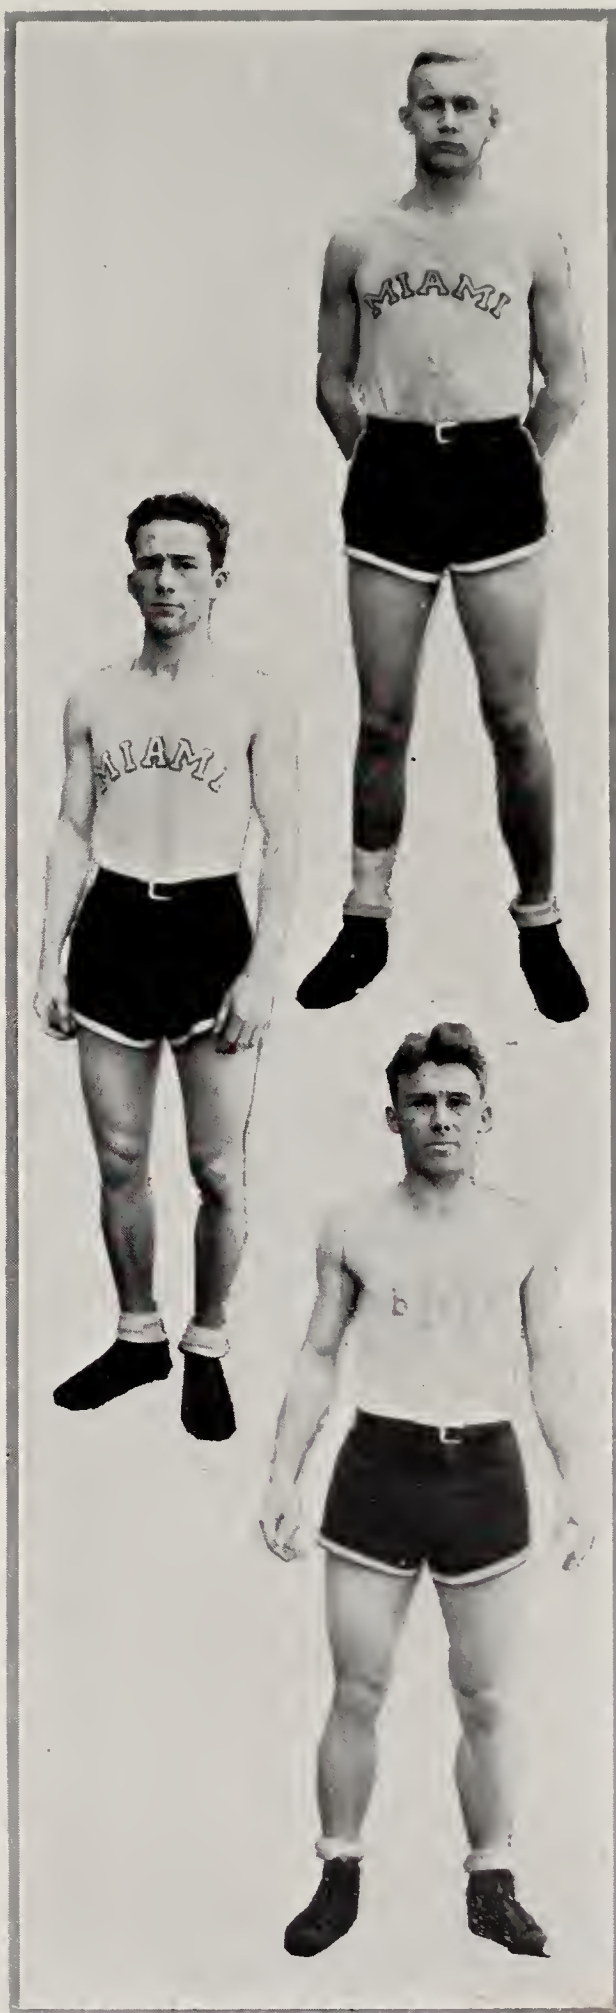

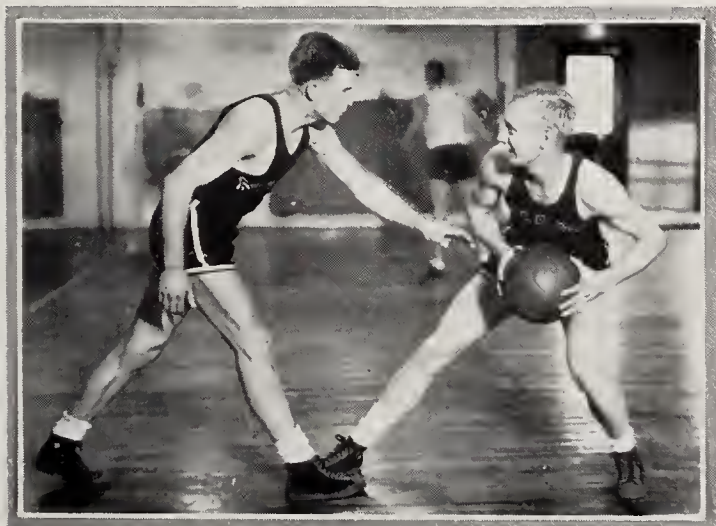

STEINHAUER
GERRARD

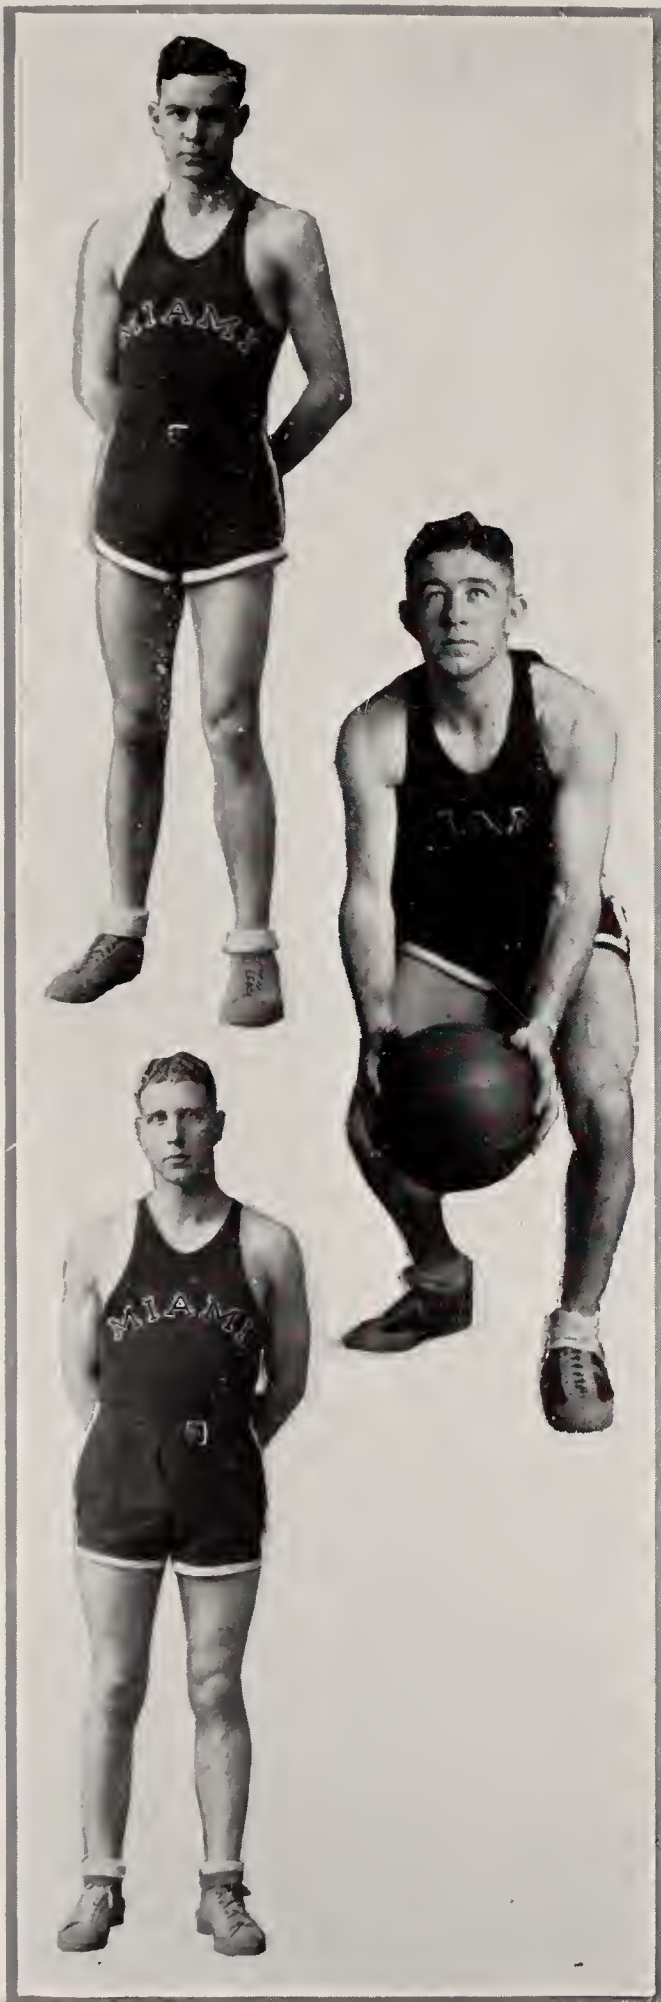

Clouser, and Richardson each got nine counters during the game, but the uncanny basket work of Early and Franz was too much for anyone, and at the last gun Cincinnati had Miami bested 47 to 38.

On January 16, the Red team of Miami went to Granville to do battle with Dennison. The Granville boys, smarting from two defeats at the hands of Tillotson's men last year, were out after revenge, and they got it. Miami did not display a very impressive brand of basketball and lost 48 to 31.

Ohio Wesleyan came next to furnish the customers one of the most thrilling contests in years. With the invaders leading 23 to 12 at the beginning of the second half, Miami cut loose with a whirlwind attack that gave everyone a thrill, particularly Wesleyan. When the Big Reds got within a point or two of the lead, they showed weakness on foul shots, and the game ended with the Bishops in the lead 32 to 31, but with nothing to crow over.

The Red warriors were at home again on January 26 to bring the spirits of Miami rooters up with a bound when they saw the game with Ohio University. The Athens lads had the edge on Miami in the first stanza, but the second half was a different semester, and the Red and White team took the big end of a 40 to 29 count. The entire Miami aggregation turned in a very creditable performance, and the old time life and fight were very much in evidence.

MCENTIRE

The powerful Muskingum team was the next opponent of Miami in a game played at Muskingum. The "Musgies" performed in their usual brilliant manner which enabled them to turn in a record of ten victories and one defeat for the entire season, and Miami, playing well below par, suffered a 44 to 31 defeat.

Then came the upset of the season, and a game that made the breast of every loyal Miami fan swell with a great pride. The Red and White team went to Delaware to engage in a pleasant little combat, but when the smoke of battle cleared away it revealed a badly beaten and greatly surprised team in the persons of the Bishops. Miami took the lead with a flying start led by Paul Taylor and Clouser and were never headed. Taylor amassed a total of 14 points for Miami and Clouser was next with 9; the other boys-Richardson, Canfield, and Moyer were too busy doing a noble piece of work in holding the famous Wesleyen scoring combination well in check to do much scoring. To make a long story short, Taylor was easily the star of the contest, and Miami won 33 to 22.

Wittenberg came next, overcame Miami's early lead, and forced the Red and White team to take the smaller count of a 32-29 score. Had the Big Reds used somewhat different tactics when they were in the lead, it might have been a different story, but it's all over now. Canfield went fast for Miami, scoring 11 points.

Dennison's basketeters met Miami here February 16. Jumping into a lead at the start, they were never in any serious danger. Bliss of Dennison was the star of the contest, amassing 17 points besides displaying excellent floor work. The most encouraging feature of the game from Miami's standpoint was the work of the reserves.

Ohio U. and Miami next fought it out to break the tie for last place in the Buckeye at Athens. Miami led at the half, but lacked sufficient punch to win the contest, and were forced to take a 38 to 32 defeat, and the cellar position with it, a position to which Miami is not at all accustomed.

At Springfield, Wittenberg defeated the Miami basketballers in a game which called forth the Lutherans' best efforts. Miami's new line-up did exceedingly well, but not well enough. Douglass, Clouser, and Steinhauer were best for Miami, and as usual, Kruger and Keyser piled up points for Wittenberg.

Miami went to Cincinnati for their last game with a grim determination to elevate themselves from the cellar and to get revenge from Cincinnati for having started them out on this unsuccessful season. However, the Cincy lads had other plans for the Big Reds, and they lost, 42 to 32. This game was, however, no disgrace to the Big Reds for the sophomore and junior members of the team revealed potential strength for the future contests of Miami's court teams.

Varsity Track

OACH George Rider faced the 1928 season with only average material, yet several records were broken and the team placed second in the Buckeye.

Davis won first place in the high jump at all the meets except the Ohio Relays. At the Cincinnati dual meet, he took first place in the broad jump and pole vault in addition to the high jump. He also broke the school record. Vossler took first place in the shotput at all the meets except the Big Ten. He qualified for the final Olympic tryouts, but did not go to Cambridge. He, too, broke a Miami record as well as the State record.

Wolfe was the outstanding sprinter, running the 100 in 9.8 seconds and the 220 in 22 seconds flat. Whittaker, performing for the first time in the event, broke the school record in the javelin throw. Dutton proved a good man in the mile and Lyon, a sophomore, showed promise in the two mile. Thatcher and Frische did very creditable hurdling for the Miami squad. Miami took second in the Buckeye and third in the Big Six meets.

Freshman Track

N his first year as Freshman track coach, Ditmer was faced with the problem of building up a strong squad from material of uneven merit and was successful in so far as the squad performed practically the same in telegraphic meets as did the Varsity squad in its meets.

In these meets, the yearlings lost to Wesleyan by a scant six points, ran away with Cincinnati by a margin of one hundred points and placed second in the Big Six meet.

Despite the uneven structure of the squad there were some remarkably good individual performers. Gordon ran around fifty in the quarter mile consistently and ran very fast time in the dashes as did Lee. Parks and Reed in the half-mile looked very good as did Reed in the mile. Luttenton should go places in the pole vault, while Angell will probably make a good running mate for Davis in the high jump.

Miami's Big Red tracksters shone brightly in some spots and flickered dissappointingly in others in their initial meet against tremendous competition at the Ohio Relays.

George Vossler was responsible for Miami's outstanding achievement. In heaving the shot 44 feet 4½ inches he won first place against the greatest shot putters in the Big Ten and other midwest universities and broke both the University and the state record as well.

Miami's three relay teams made fair showings in the races which were slowed up by a heavy rain. Bishop, Ritchie, Morrison, and Wiseman finished third in the two mile relay. In the medley relay Shroder, Bishop, Fridae, and Lyon finished fourth and Demaline Thatcher, Wolfe, and Lutton finished fifth in the sprint relay.

Davis made a comparatively good showing in the high jump when he cleared the stick at 6 feet, 2 inches to tie Anson of Ohio State for fourth place in the high jump.

At Cincinnati, Miami ran away with an overwhelming victory from the University of Cincinnati and Ohio University in a triangular meet.

"Red" winning the 100 and 220 yard dashes, and "Divvy" copping the pole vault, high jump and second in the broad jump. Three times clocked "Red" at 9 4-5 seconds in the 100.

It was the first time that a Miami cinderman won two dashes in one afternoon since the palmy days of Tom Sharkey.

In all, the Riderites won twelve firsts out of fifteen events. The Big Reds registered 88½ points, more than doubling their closest rival, Cincinnati, with 43 points, while Ohio U gathered only 31½ points.

In the next meet held at Delaware against Wesleyan, the powerful Bishop team took ten firsts, beating Miami 82 to 49.

For Miami, Vossler and "Pinky" Coleman lived up to expectations in winning the shot put and Davis took his favorite, the high jump, as usual. By placing second in both hurdles, Thatcher was high point scorer. Demaline won first place in the broad jump. Dutton and Fridae came from behind in the mile to win first and second respectively.

At Oxford on the following Saturday the Bearcats experienced the worst defeat they have ever suffered at the hands of Miami. Failing to take a single first, they were snowed under by a score of 101 2/3 to 29 1/3.

Four new dual meet records and one University record were broken. Bob Whittaker broke both dual and Miami records when he threw the javelin 171 feet and 2 inches. Davis set a new dual pole vault record at 11 feet and 7 inches, and jump record at 5 feet and 10 inches. "Red" Thatcher clipped one-tenth of a second from the dual low hurdle record.

At the Buckeye Association meet, Miami was again beaten by Wesleyan. Bettered by ten points, Miami copped second place. In this meet Miami was leading until the last three events.

Vossler set a new record in the shot when he projected the ball 43 feet 1½ inches.

Lyon, Miami distance runner, provided the thriller of the afternoon. Trailing far behind at the last lap of his two mile jaunt, he soon closed the gap and with a remarkably strong sprint on the stretch, he passed Keyt of Wesleyan by a few inches at the tape, coming in second to the reliable Mike Weber.

Dutton ran a good race to win the one mile event, passing all the entries on the last lap. Fridae placed fourth in the run. Wolfe ran a nip and tuck battle for second place in the 100 yard dash. Thatcher and Frische split second and third places between them in the hurdles. Davis took first in the high jump.

Pettibone of Wesleyan was high point man of the meet.

Miami wound up its track activities at the Big Six meet where the Big Reds took third place. Ohio Wesleyan successfully defended her Big Six track and field title for the fifth consecutive time. Oberlin nosed Miami out of second. The three highest scores were 57 1/5, 37 7/10, and 31 1/2.

In winning the 220 yard dash, Barnes, Oberlin's versatile colored athlete, bettered the old record held by Sharkey of Miami by one-tenth of a second.

"Divvy" Davis was the only Miami trackster to get a first place. He cleared the bar at 5 feet, 11 1/2 inches in the high jump. Other cindermen who kept the Big Reds in the running were Vossler and Coleman, shot; DeWert, Broad jump; Vossler in the discus; Dutton, in the mile; Morrison in half mile; and Thatcher and Frische in the hurdles. Some vital points were lost when Whittaker, javelin thrower, threw his elbow out of joint in the qualifying rounds.

Track Summary

Although Miami's cinder artists did not win the Buckeye or Big Six meets, still in the main the work of the team was very encouraging, especially the performances of some of the Sophomores and Juniors who, with men coming up from the Freshman Squad and the added experience of college competition, will probably present a formidable array. The work of Davis, Vossler, Whittaker, Lyon, Dutton, Wolfe and others who will be back should make track circles sit up and take notice next Spring.

RUEL Fate stepped in at the eleventh hour and robbed Coach Pittser's Big Red diamond stars of their third consecutive Buckeye Championship. Up until the final contest of the season with the Cincinnati Bearcats on Memorial day the Big Red team showed a nifty pair of heels to the other members of the Buckeye Circuit. However, Miami's ancient rivals from the Queen City proved to be her Waterloo, winning the final contest 5 to 1, and forcing the Oxford lads into second place for the season.

Coach Pittser developed a powerful team, building it around lettermen of the previous year. Ken Miller, stellar hurler of years past; Ewbanks, famous for his fielding and heavy hitting; Kramer, a pitcher with experience; Ellsesser, top-notch short stop; Ed Isakle, who turned in first-class performances at first base in the past; Fred Latcha, a capable second-sacker; and Welsh, heavy hitting outfielder, were the mainstays of the Big Red squad. To fill gaps left by graduation, Coach Pittser was fortunate enough to have such men as Crockett, Gorie, Graeser, Bass, and Douglas on hand. Brollier, Newborn, Mee, Van Ausdale and Sparling furnished capable reserve strength.

Letters were awarded eleven men. They were:

COACH Tillotson applied himself in his capable manner, and in a couple of weeks after the call for Freshman players had been made, he succeeded in cutting a squad of seventy men down to a working number of about sixteen. Several of the frosh were men of considerable diamond experience, and Coach Tillotson soon brought the others up to par with the result that the frosh turned out a well rounded nine with considerable punch.

Strobel, Hibbard, Dodd and Tozzer divided the pitching work. Siler worked overtime, and did most of the receiving for the men of '31. Harmon, Doyle, Ellsworth, Bell, and Gerrard filled the infield positions. Each of the men were used in various infield posts to enable the Coach to find out where he could do the best work.

Walters, Tessendorff and Raymond ranged the outer pastures to rob the varsity of many extra base blows in the course of the season.

The diamond men of Miami were first seen in action during spring vacation when they crossed bats with three strong teams as preliminaries to their regular season. In the first game of the season, Miami defeated the Fenwick Club in a thrilling contest 9 to 7. Hamilton High School, who had turned in several victories before meeting Coach Pittser's men, were the next victims by a 9 to 2 score. Then Miami journeyed to Columbus to hand Ohio State, a strong contender in the Big Ten, a 9 to 2 defeat, and incidentally to get revenge for last season's loss.

The Buckeye A. A. schedule opened here with Ohio Wesleyan, and plenty of cold and snow. The Big Reds were not as adept at mixing the national pastime with a blizzard as were the Bishops, and went down to a glorious defeat 5 to 3.

On April 20, Ken Miller and his gang whitewashed Ohio University on the local lot 7 to 0. Miller was in great form, allowing only 5 hits, while our men were able to collect 10 bingles from Barfoot's offerings.

At Granville on April 27, the Big Red team took Denison into camp, 11 to 0. Miller again was in top form, and allowed only 7 hits. The Big Reds touched the Denison hurling staff for 14 safeties.

On the same trip, the Redlegs reaped sweet revenge, and a jump in the percentage column at the same time by giving Ohio Wesleyan the short end of a 6 to 3 count. Dick Bass, a sophomore hurler, got into action for the first time, and turned in a good game, keeping Wesleyan's twelve hits well scattered. Gorie and Isakle hit for the circuit.

The Big Reds moved up into a tie for first place with Cincinnati by defeating the Bearcats 6 to 5 in Nippert Stadium on May 2. The game was a see-saw affair, but the ability of Miami's hitters to come through in the pinches gave them the bacon.

At Springfield the Redlegs met the Lutherans and gave them the short end of a 7-3 count. However, Coach Pittser's men were forced to give their best to add this victory to the season's total.

On May 11, the Big Reds met Denison on the local diamond, and turned in their third shut-out of the season by winning 15 to 0. Coach Pittser's men opened their attack by scoring 5 runs in the first inning, and then kept up the good work. Miller did not allow the visitors a hit in six innings, and Kramer held them to 3 hits for the remainder of the game. Ewbank, Crockett and Douglas led the attack with 4, 3, and 3 hits respectively. Douglas also slapped out his second home run of the season.

At Westerfield on May 15, the Big Reds defeated Otterbein 13 to 2. Kramer did the hurling for the Redlegs, and kept the upstate boys' hits well scattered.

The Red team was forced into an extra inning to defeat Ohio U. 4 to 2 at Athens. Although outhit 10 to 4, the Athens lads kept our men guessing until Gorie broke things up in the tenth with a four base wallop. Ken Miller did the mound work for the Big Reds.

Miami safe at third.

On May 18, Wittenberg showed the Big Reds the way for seven innings on the local lot. However, Coach Pittser's lads got going in the eighth inning and won out 4 to 3. Bass hurled for 8 innings and was effective, but a trifle wild; Miller pitched the last inning.

The Big Reds defeated the Dayton U. Flyers, Ohio Conference Champs, 6 to 1 on Varsity field in their next appearance. Ken Miller gave one of the best exhibitions of effective hurling that has been seen on the local field for some time, and he was ably assisted by his battery-mate, Douglas. Ewbank led Miami's hitters with three hits and a walk out of five trips to the plate.

The season closed here with Cincinnati on May 30. Our boys played a good game although they were somewhat nervous at critical points in the game which helped the Bearcats. By dropping this game 5 to 1, the Big Reds were forced down into second place, and thus they missed a third consecutive Buckeye flag by a hair. However, all followers of Coach Pittser and his stellar performers were satisfied with their work for the season, and were mighty proud of their showing.

A glance at the summary of the season's results will make clear the real strength of Miami's Big Red baseballers. In the fifteen games played, Coach Pittser's boys amassed a grand total of 110 runs while our opponents were able to ring up 40 counters. That is, Miami averaged 7.33 runs per contest, and our opponents chalked up 2.66 tallies. The Big Reds suffered but two reverses, one, amid snow and ice, to Wesleyan 5 to 3, and the second to Cincinnati on Memorial day, 5 to 1, which just couldn't be helped.

Graduation will take a heavy toll both in quality and in number of Miami's diamond stars. Ewbank, one of the greatest hitters of the Buckeye, will be absent from the 1928-29 team. Two stellar moundsmen in the persons of Ken Miller, and Fritz Kramer have worn Miami's colors on the hill for the last time. Ed Isakle, who divided his time between the mound and first sack during his three years on the squad, is gone. Fritz Latcha, who adapted himself to both infield and outfield positions during his years of service, has also left the Red squad. The veteran short-stop, Ellsesser, will be back in uniform this year, and will probably be the nucleus of the infield. Welsh, veteran of two seasons, will be present to roam the outfield, and swat the old apple from the post side of the plate. Two capable sophomores are back in school this year and should give a good account of themselves, Bass, as a hurler, and Dave Crockett on third base. Coach Pittser is depending on last year's Freshman squad for great things, and if Coach has the material to work with, we all know what he can do.

HE cross country team, lacking one good man to complete its unit of five, came very close to being the best Miami has had despite the defeats it suffered. The absence of Bob Goacher, who received a broken leg in an auto accident last year, was sorely felt. The performances of Dutton, who broke the course record at Athens, and Lyon, at Cincinnati, place these two runners among the very first rank in the state.

The team was composed of Dutton, Lyon, Hollinger, Fridae, W. Gruehl, E. Gruehl, and Edmonds. Dutton was the only one to win a letter, and is the only member to be lost by graduation.

In the initial race, the Ohio Wesleyan cross country aggregation outran the Big Red harriers by a score of 34 to 23.

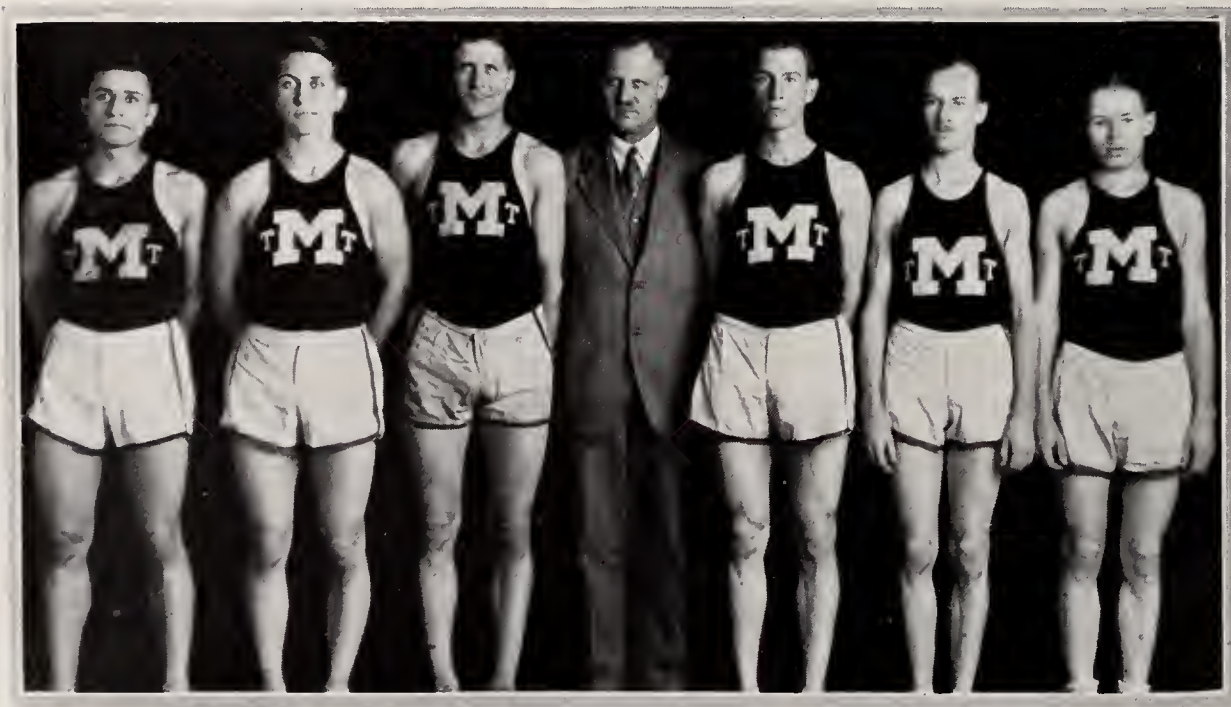

Dutton, the Miami star, ran the four mile course in 23 minutes, 34 seconds; 22 seconds behind Dean of Wesleyan. Lyon finished one-half second behind Gentner of Wesleyan for fourth place.

At Cincinnati, the Big Reds lost the greatest race ever run on the Bearcat course by a 28 to 27 score. Nine men were on the track at one time with only a minute difference between the first and last. The course record was reduced to 22 minutes, 25 seconds by Lyon of Miami.

At Athens, Lee Dutton glorified Miami's defeat by breaking the course record with a time of 21 minutes, 53 seconds. Fridae of Miami took third in this race. Other members of the squad took seventh, eighth, and tenth places. The final score was 26 to 29 in favor of Ohio University.

At the Buckeye meet, the final race of the season for the Championship, Miami placed third, behind Wesleyan and Cincinnati.

Lee Dutton, a senior, sang his swan song for Miami by taking third place in the meet. An old injury forced Lyon to drop out after a courageous run of two miles.

MISS MARGARET E. PHILLIPS

Under the guidance of three full time instructors, Miami women have been able to maintain high standards of accomplishment and sportsmanship in athletics.

A diversity of sports is offered during the year. Hockey, soccer, volley-ball, and archery are the fall sports, with basket-ball, apparatus, and floorwork, coming in the winter together with interpretative dancing, advanced gym, and clogging as added features. Spring brings base-ball, archery, tennis and track.

Miss Margaret Phillips, Director of Physical Education for Women is a Vassar alumnus of the class of 1919. She received her certificate of Hygiene and Physical Education from Wellesley college in 1921 and since that time has been acting as physical education instructor at Miami.

Miss Margaret Shaw graduated from the University of Colorado in 1923. She received her certificate from Wellesley two years later and has been an instructor at Miami since 1925.

Mrs. Elizabeth Nitchie Cole received her diploma from Central School of Physical Education, New York City, 1924. She has been a member of the Miami Physical Education Department since 1925.

Women's Athletic Association

Founded to promote interest in all sports, physical efficiency, scholarship and good fellow-ship, the Miami Women's Athletic Association is affiliated with the national organization of W. A. A.

All women students of the University are eligible for membership after they have earned three hundred points according to the point system of the association. Points are given for participation on class teams, in the various seasonal sports, indoor meet, extra class work, hiking and observance of health rules.

In addition to its duties as sponsor of all athletic events, the organization provides equipment and raises funds for their maintenance. Awards are given to those individuals who have won honors in activities and to classes ranking highest in accomplishment and good sportsmanship.

The Women's Athletic Board, which is made up of the officers of the association, class managers, and representatives from each class of the Liberal Arts and Teachers' Colleges, has charge of the rules and regulations, keeping points, and managing the athletic events.

Men's Pan-Hellenic Council

EN'S Pan-Hellenic is an inter-fraternity organization that acts as a medium between the administration and the fraternities as a group. The purpose of the organizations is to promote the interests and welfare of the University by co-operating with faculty and administration, to formulate rules governing the rushing and pledging of the various groups, and to establish a common bond of good will and fellowship between the thirteen Greek orders on the campus.

Other duties of the organization are to limit the expenditures for social functions, favors, and rushing; Co-operative buying, and purchasing through the university as well as all problems of pan-hellenic interest are also decided upon.

Each year a Junior representative is chosen by the council to attend the national conference at New York. This representative then automatically becomes president of the organization for the ensuing year. The Council is composed of two men from each fraternity.

Officers for last year were: Jack Lutton, President; James Rodgers, Secretary.

Women's Pan-Hellenic Council

OMEN'S Pan-Hellenic Council is an organization composed of three representatives from each sorority on the campus. It has divers purposes in sorority life and in controlling the actions of the feminine groups.

Rush control and pledging restrictions are among the most important duties of the body. At the last meeting each spring, a definite date is set for the next year's rushing to begin. Only during specific hours of the day are the upper classmen allowed to be with the Freshmen. Besides restricted rushing, a definite date is also set for pledging. No sorority can pledge before that time. And if an organization breaks a pan-hellenic ruling, as sometimes happens, a penalty is inflicted by the Council. In order to give each group an equal chance in rushing, the Council limits the expenditures of each sorority for that purpose.

Membership is selected in the following manner. A sophomore is chosen by every sorority each year. This representative then serves for the three ensuing years, making three members from each sorority in the council.

The Naked Truth!

Behold, oh sycophants, the students' woe—
The mighty ones who tell you, "come," and "go,"

And how to spell and how to teach a class,
Or what is right and wrong for lad and lass.
The deep dark secrets of their lives revealed
We publish here—the documents unsealed.
Who would have thought that Dr. Rea, alas,
Would bawl one out for whispering in class,
Or that Dean Hamilton would break her arm
To get a month's vacation on this farm,
Or that the hard-boiled fighter, E. C. Ross,
Would push a baby carriage—he the boss!
And then we heard (there's one who swears
'tis true)

Dean Brandon takes Miss Glasgow driving, too!

Besides that, Bachelor, he the pure of name,
The man of many words, of New York fame,
Dates all the co-eds, takes Miss Wilson out,
Smokes vile cigars, and so does sh——,
don't shout!

Are you intelligent? On Sunday night
Dupre has sessions for your mind's delight.
It doesn't matter what you talk about,
You'd get all hot on icebergs—not a doubt!
Miss Emerson has secret longings for a job
On moving vans for some big store,
If you should doubt my words, or how they're "put,"

Just cast your orbs upon her bandaged foot.
If you would be a big success with girls,
Just listen to the "notes" that St. John hurls—

He plays the flute and oboe, longs to get
A slant on youth—you'll have a conference yet.

Of course you know that Roudebush is tight,
But did you know he went to auctions?
right!

So if your bed caves in, your desk gives way,
It's only close two bits you'll have to pay!
Somebody said, "things are not what they seem,"

Meet Havighurst and Glos, the co-eds' dream
Of what a Greek God really ought to be—
And Havighurst and women can't agree!
It's not a campus secret but you know

That Loren Gates who cautions—"this"— and—"so,"

Reads Ichabod and flies into a rage
If someone speaks before he turns a page!
Professor Bain employs words obscure
And many-syllabled, but he's not sure
Just how they should be spelled, neither are we,

They are enough to hear and not to see!
All hail to thee, oh absent minded prof—
Martin and Clark—to thee our hats we doff,
Would that exams and classes were the things

You would forget—and when the class bell rings!

Oh, students are you weary and heavy lidded—go

To Smyser's French, the language is a lullaby, you know,

Your snooze will be refreshing, the bell will toll the hour,

You'll get an A for going—his dad has lots of power!

And M.A's of the chewing—gum who seek a parking space,

Doc Robinson removes it from beneath his desk with grace.

Todd sneaks away from wife to indulge in sweets, bad man!

Hates girls in Economics and will flunk 'em
if he can.

Bill Ross and all his pupils will pass a vote of thanks

To him who gives to Bill a book of one or two good pranks,

His jokes fall flat as pancakes on an empty stomach-wow,

Please tell us what to do to stop it very quick and how!

Come forward, please, ye damsels with eyes
of liquid brown,

There is no course like Latin that is taught in Oxford Town,

Mr. Hadsel wouldn't take you down in grades
if you had eyes of brown!

So now the awful secret's out and all's exposed, egad,

Just think of all the many A's and B's you might have had!

Herewith is set forth a true and faithful chronology of how the swains and damsels at Miami University did disport themselves during the year 1928-29 Anno Domini

September

17. The class of '32 arrives in school and is shown around.

Here beginneth the story of certain adventures and characteristics of the Lords and Ladies who are gathered together at Oxenford. It is told how certain castles of Lords achieve their nobleness and how sundry groups of beautiful dames acquire their loveableness.

So if it pleases you to read this story, I believe it will afford you excellent entertainment, and will, without doubt, greatly exalt your spirit because of the remarkable courage with which these Lords and Ladies do live. Likewise, you shall find great cheer in reading therein of the wonderful marvelousness of youth.

For it hath given me such pleasure to write these things that my heart would, at times, be diluted as with a pure joy, wherefore, I entertain great hopes that you also may find much pleasure in them as I have already done. So I pray you to listen unto what follows.

It so happens that among the castles wherein noble men dwell at Oxenford is one with the shield of Phi Delta Theta emblazoned upon its front. In this castle dwelleth the knight of the sword and shield. None but those of sufficient birth, condition and quality may find shelter amid this castle. They are so wonderfully pure of heart and soul that their brows, throats and bosoms are white like alabaster. They are so ethereal and chaste that they do see far beyond the humble sports of athletics, but do indulge in sprightly dancing at a tavern known throughout the village as "The Spinning Wheel." Their high nobility of knighthood entitles them to cause a great fluttering of emotion among the hearts of fair damsels, the like of whom are easily won by the manners and appearances of men rather than by the conversation and brawn of men. Every day these knights of the smoothe skin do beddeck themselves in their fineries in order that they may enjoy the gay uptown wherein great multitudes do gather for social activities. They always appear in stiff collars, winsome spats, neatly pressed suits and top coats which they do carry over their arms. Often it is that they do partake of a mild but nourishing drink known as the egg nog while languidly loafing within the walls of the "Purity." To the astonishment and amazement of the world, these fragile men once did give a dance, which was to be a ruff-house dance. No human mind could understand why this should be—and well they might not for only a few did shroud themselves in old garments. These few did soon feel that they had brought their knighthood to disgrace and shame. One of the wonderfully marvelous facts concerning the inhabitants of this castle is their excessive abundance of clothes. In order to convince some of the incoming knights and lords of their superiority, they did unfold the secret that Sir Stuart Lane was possessed of twenty-one suits. Of course all in this glorious institution of learning are ready to bow before Sir Lane as they all consider clothes a great factor in perfect living! These brave knights also did assert their differential qualities by abolishing "Hell Week." It seems that the disagreeabilities of this infernal week were too hard on their already weak constitutions and poor physiques. But in order to continue to have the people of the world think of them as noble, they did have Sir Bennet make printings in the "Student" which did proclaim to the multitudes the exquisiteness of their act. One of these knights, Sir Charles Ebert, does hold his mother in such high esteem that he takes away his pin, the token of his love and affection, from the maiden to whom he has made love, for the sake of preserving the love of his mother. This deed above all others places the Phi Delt at the height of nobility.

Among the worthies of Oxenford are the brave heroic Dekes. It is this group to which the mighty McCall has attached himself. The mighty McCall, who is huge of frame and does stand head and shoulders above others, excels in sports and does thereby cause his noble brethren to be proud of him. In years before, the Lords of the Deke Castle were the best that did live in Oxenford. But this year the days of rushing having arrived, the Dekes did make huge wailings and moanings because they did lose their sacred rush list. One, Sir Jack Douglas, who did become wedded, was the erring soul who did the losing. Alas!—for this reason the Dekes did not fare so well this year. But lo! in spite of this difficulty, these Lords of the Brawn and Muscle did excel all others in intramural sports. Heretofore the Dekes were wont to drink of forbidden draughts and to give dances in which their Lords did become so affected by the forbidden draught that they did fall prone to the floor. But after several talks with the Honorable Dean, who did bid them to straightway purge themselves of their habits, they did so. The Dekes have long perceived that their alumni were the best in the land so they do lose no time in informing the newcomers to the village of this fact. Some call this method of convincing "hot-boxing." Many of this brave sect seem to be lacking in intelligence but they do make amends for this by engaging in battles in which they are usually the conquerors.

Now turn we unto the members of the Beta Theta Pi symbol. They do take great delight in donning clothes which appear to have been worn for many centuries—but perhaps their value does lie in their antiquity. Despite this habit, the Betas are able to gain the attention of a few fair damsels. They do treat the damsels with a certain fierceness and violence which may be the result of their usual habit of setting the flasks to their lips at odd and peculiar times. My eyes fill with tears when I think on the squalid living conditions of these impetuous knights. Instead of the usual knightly castle, they do habitate a poor and lowly looking hut. Indeed, 'tis a shame for such heroic knights to be entirely bereft of wealth and standing in the community. But these Lords do have their hopes placed in the far future. Some knight once had a vision of an exceedingly beautiful mansion in which the Betas did live and although the vision was probably told before breakfast, The knights do still live in the hope that someday the mansion will be completed and also livable. So it is that these knights, when making their daily pilgrimages to certain buildings of learning, do stop and gaze longingly upon a structure which is now being improved upon, in order to partially fulfill the vision of this one knight. 'Tis quite pathetic to note the slow progress of the humble ones engaged in the building process, and the strange eagerness of these knights and lords. Among this group are two Lords of entirely different character, namely, Sir Howard, who does wile away the weary hours by attempting to give fair damsels reason to expect and hope for his love, and Sir Flinchpaugh, who does find enjoyment in filling the hearts of his brethren with terror by boxing with them and completely overthrowing them. None but he can smite his brethren down! We shall leave these knights of the squalid conditions with a prayer that they may increase in wealth and decrease in the number of debaucheries!

Lo! and behold! we are about to encroach on the lives of the dames who do adorn their fronts with huge "X'S" and who do call themselves the Chi Omegas. The peculiar and bewildered thing concerning these dames is that from a distance they appear to be beautiful and bewitching, but when one does come nearer to the countenances of these damsels he does notice demarcations in beauty which are both dissappointing and surprising. Often these maidens are seen huddled together pricking up their ears to hear the juicy ending of some base story which does ill become their dignity. As far as knights and lords are concerned, these Ladies are extremely loyal. Someone did once suggest to them that the Chi Omegas and the Betas were superbly agreeable to each other. No sooner had this idea penetrated the futile brain of a Chi Omega than she did proclaim to her sisters that the Betas were their soul mates and that they had always been meant for each other's company. It is beyond human mind to comprehend the strange workings of these damsels's brains. It was not long until the Chi Omegas did give enjoyable private parties in which the Betas were the noble guests of honor and soon, alas! soon a few of the weaker-minded Knights of the Hut did succumb to the charms of the patronizing Chi Omegas. The sad part of this fact is that when once a Beta has come under the clutches of a Chi his life is settled, for she does never once let him slip from her sight. We shall utter a silent oath against the beguiling damsels of the "X" and Horseshoe!

As unnatural as it may sound to your ears, the Delta Upsilon were the ones who did make a capturing of the Phi Beta Kappa cup. 'Tis said the it was won by one-thirteen thousandeth of a point, but such is not for us to cogitate over, but merely to state to the wondering public. This last fact seems to disprove to us that filled cellars and text books do not mix. The Delta Upsilon also hated to have their freshman become deteriorated by the hellishness of "Hell Week" so they did Likewise abolish it, but unlike the Phi Delts, they did not make publishings of it in the "Student," which is otherwise known as the "Phi Delt Chronicle." These knights are of that type which is economical at all times—when they do decide to give a dance, they do commune with the Betas and the two do go in partnership in giving a dance, thereby saving the university the expense of having to repair the building twice after Beta and D. U. debaucheries.

The maidens of the sect of Delta Zeta do now occupy our minds. We are sad to make relatings to the nature that these damsels are not nearly as dizzy as they have been in former years. It seems that they threw off their dizziness, as does a sick man and sought for girls with brains of the more fertile variety. Although this extraordinary loss of dizziness keeps them from being as well known to the knights and lords who do enjoy frequenting the uptown district of Oxenford, it gives them a better foundation for more perfect womanhood. Nevertheless, there are divers members of the upper classs who do still believe in their former tactics and who do inhabit the spotlessly clean "Willis Brothers" and do smile benignly on the men, and give them ye old "Come Hither" look which does seem to get them every time. Ever since Lady Jones decided to adorn herself with a jeweled Delta Tau Delta pin the chapter of this serene group have made themselves attractive to the Delta Tau Delta knights and lords. It has been said that one member of Delta Zeta has brought upon herself the name of "Delt Sweetheart." But alas, gone are the days of Delta Zeta hand flutterings, gone are the days of honey phrases which the unexcellable Terry did concoct, and gone are the day of blissful days of Delta Zeta titterings!

And now it is that we do make writings concerning the hilarious knights of the Delta Tau Delta order. Seldom it is that they can be found without a few of their members delightfully smelling of intemperance. Yea—they are duly proud of the fact that they can "hold their liquor like unto a man." And yet, the Delts do spend sufficient time both on the football field and in dormitory parlors. They do continually extend a cheerful greeting to all who happen to come under their glances.

Because the Delts do dwell so very far away from the maddening crowd they do spend their evening indulging in a mild sport, which they do call "making whoopee." It is surprising to note that half of the Delt Senior class made Phi Beta Kappa, the other half didn't—he plays football! These knights and lords do take great offense when someone does dare call them "Down Town Drunks," but now we do take the care to ask them—"Spake unto and tell us, how can we call you any other when you continue to spend your pences at the "Farms" and at sundry other road houses?" At dances, the jolly knights do jump, run, howl and roar and call it a big evening. We raise our empty cups—to—uh—in hopes that the Delta Tau Deltas will see fit to fill them for us!

And now we do enter upon the feigned sanctity of the fair damsels of the Crescent Moon and Stars. These maidens are a mystery to many knights because at times they do appear to be so uplifting and moralic, and then again, at other times they do make condescensions to act as most normal maidens do. This year does seem to be the year for the Tri Delts to increase their moral standards—they are possessed of three daughters of ministers. But in spite of their supposedly high standards of conduct, the Tri Delts seem to have enough brains to overcome the ethics of rushing. They did give a party in Hamilton, and then they did act quite languid and peaceful when the other maidens were indulged in rushing. When other young maiden neophytes were wearing pledge pins, they did happen to be certain young maidens who did carry meaningful safety pins amid their pockets which did assure them of a Delta Delta Delta bid. Since these ladies of the moon and stars do loathe, hate and despise to see the fading away of old traditions, they do still enjoy in ruminating with chewing gum. Some of these maidens do love being hopelessly and pathetically in love, others do enjoy in philosophizing on what love, is, others do like to give all knights the time-worn "line," others do participate in sports, and still others are content with books!

Now hearken unto the tellings of the Knights of the White Cross! In days of old they did hold the supreme honor of being the inimitable Tea Hounds of Oxenford. But, sad to relate, times have changed, for they have lost this honor to the dainty Phi Delts. The Sigma Chis do now spend their hours of leisure in either partaking of inebriating drinks or in pursuing the charms of certain damsels of the A. O. Pi. sect who inhabit Hepburn Hall. The love which does exist between these favored A. O. Pis and the Knights of the White Cross is one to be envied by all the Lords and Ladies of the Land. They do find complete enjoyment in spending hours in which they are enfolded within each others' arms, under the roof of Hepburn Hall. 'Tis sweet, Yea, 'tis sweet to note the adoring glances with which the A. O. Pis and Sigma Chis do gaze upon each other. Another pleasant pastime of the White Crossers is the joyful caroling which they do eliminate from their throats. Their souls seem to be taking flights to heaven as they do put themselves in the position of songsters. Because of this they do sing in the famous Glee Club which is an organization which is known throughout America and Europe. And in Europe is where the Knights are known to be untrustworthy and quite lax in behaviour, for it is here that they are athirst beyond measure and do gulp down the liquors of the foreign countries.

Let it here be said that the fair damsels of the A. O. Pi sect are possessed of more cheerful and kindly dispositions than heretofore. As far as it is known, there has not been any huge bickerings among the group as in days gone by. Since a great love for manhood did enter their hearts they do look more gently upon the small things of life. They do now concern themselves with the bigger things of living, namely Sigma Chis, a D. U. and Y.W.C.A. committees. They do consist of both the staid type and the type which is accustomed to flings of flightiness. Despite the fact that these damsels do keep strong company with the White Cross Knights it has come to pass that they do cherish the Betas as their secret loves or perhaps as exalted ideals. Thus it is that the ladies of the land are ne'er satisfied in their hearts with that which they do have but are continually seeking for singular adventures and uproarious times.

Here followeth the story of some knights and lords who did finally escape from the wiles and charms of a certain institution of ladies, or what you will, which was named the "Oxenford College for Ladies." Here it was the Knights of Delta Upsilon held many a love tryst both in the buildings of the college and in their own garage. All of this befell because of the powerful enchantment which these ladies of this institution did hold for the innocent D. U.'s. But, the good Lord did look down upon these doings and it was so arranged that these able knights were released from these excruciating bonds by a dissolving of the entire institution. That is why the lords and knights of Delta Upsilon do frequent the tavern of the "Spinning Wheel" in a body because they are afeared that since they have not been accustomed, in their dark past, to spend their evenings in public, they needs must have many in order to stop any undue riotousness which any of them might perchance participate in. The D. U.'s belong to the order of knights which do have gay and jolly times jesting with each other's natures and sundry dispositions. They do emit from their house any of their brethren who do have the daring to come to breakfast attired in sleeping garments.

Now do we turn unto the knights of the S. A. E. castle who, not being content with their castle, do take to slumbering in a barn. They do delight in holding up the carriages of Oxenford by participating in baseball in the avenue in front of their castle. The law of averages does give this group of knights a huge number of athletes, for which they are duly proud. Many of these knights and lords do acquire their brawn by taking diurnal hikes to the famous institution of Western College. They find the trees of the Western campus quite convenient for their Tete-a tetes. Also, it is rumored that a few of this group have attached themselves to the "Smoother Apple Club"—a prosperous organization in Oxenford. These knights are well versed on the subject to "Ladies' Dress" as they do become educated in such matters as they do recline on their front veranda of an afternoon or evening.

What ho! Now we are becoming interested in the damsels of the anchor. They are the maidens who are so wonderfully well satisfied and pleased at heart with themselves. They do amble along the street with their probisceses elevated into the air, the reason for which has not yet been discovered. They do make themselves appear winning and sweet to the knights, but catty and aggressive to other maidens. This year, they do seem to have forgotten all activities except that of lassoing knights and lords. They do enjoy adorning themselves with fraternity pins, if not for long. When at meetings, their chief topic of conversation is either knights and nights, or piercing words concerning other ladies of other sects. They do spend great effort in training their neophytes in habits of excellent refinement and on tactic of obtaining fraternity pins. They did Have the honor of having the Prom Queen for one of their sect., and the inhabitants of Oxenford will never hear the last of it!

Now turn we to the realm wherein the Sigma Kappas rule. Included within this realm are many D. U.'s. Lady Burris and Lady St. Clair have become the house-mothers of the D. U. Sect, since it is that they do spend many hours in pampering some D. U.'s, bickering with others, and loving others. But within the bonds of these group of dames there are two varieties, namely, the man-chaser and man-getter type, and the athletic, capable, uplifting type. Some of these maidens do enjoy committee meetings, some of them do enjoy the pleasures and temptations of "Ye Olde Castle Farm," while there are still some who do enjoy mild flirtations with numerous knights. A part of these maidens are those who are interested in wondering and thinking about life and all of its many merits and demerits, while the other part do not have the brains with which to do this aforesaid thinking or wonderings. It was once said that the Sigma Kappas were thought to be such good and fine girls by the Deans, but we do know better, we do know that they are just more capable of doing what is commonly known as "Getting By."

The knights and lords of Phi Kappa Tau do now come under our thought. We do note that they do have one of the most trustworthy knights, one of the most valorous knights, and one of the most handsome and promising knights, all in one man, Sir Dwight Franz. He is the man who does make the Phi Taus known about the village of Oxenford. But these knight do posses a quantity of forethought, for it is said throughout the land that they will not knight any newcomers unless they can be of the opinion that he will be either a "letter man" or a Phi Bete. After due cogitation we do come to the conclusion that this is quite sad and sorrowful because there are so many knights of nobleness and high esteem who do never become knighted into Phi KappaTau just because they do not give the appearance of attaining either one of the grand and glorious honors. It has come about that the Phi Taus rarely do get into squabbles or trouble with the deans or other worthy people of the older generation because they again used their forethought and did knight quite a huge number of the worthy and honorable and upright and intelligent members of the faculty.

Lastly turn we unto the knights of the bright and shining star, who do call themselves "Sigma Nus." They do derive an abundance of pleasure in singing soulful ditties beneath the windows of fair damsels to the extraordinary wonderful accompaniment of musicale instruments. At short vacations, of the like as between semesters they do spend their time in stealing the Phi Beta Kappa cup from the studious sect of Beta Kappa, and transporting to the uptown district of Oxenford and there drinking beer or any other drastic draught from it. It has been said by many that the Sigma Nus are always being in their cups, and with this benediction upon their heads we will leave them for deeper subjects.

And now it is that all the bells in Oxenword are ringing joyfully, and all the people do stand without the building of learning, shouting with loud acclaim for the many knights and ladies who do inhabit Oxenford and who are possessed of extremely fine characteristics and habit as you well know who have read this. So endeth this volume wherein hath been told, with every circumstances of narration, the history of those Worthies who were of the village of Oxenford. And now, if I may have the grace to do so, I will some time, at no very great time from this, write the further history of sundry other knights and worthies and ladies of whom I have not yet spoken. So may heaven grant us to come together at another time with such happiness and prosperity that you may have a free and untroubled heart to enjoy the narrated history of those excellent men and ladies which I shall then set before you. Amen.
